Moluccan Terrorists Still Hold Children

ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — A deadline for threatened death passed this morning without apparent incident at a village school and a hijacked cross-country train where South Moluccan militants were holding 105 children and more than 50 other hostages.

As the 2 p.m. local time — 8 a.m. EDT — deadline approached, the armed extremists rejected a government appeal for release of the captive children and repeated their threat to shoot hostages if the Dutch government did not meet their demands, authorities said.

The gunmen, who spoke with senior Dutch officials by telephone for an hour today, were demanding release of 21 jailed South Moluccans and a jumbo jet flight from Amsterdam to an undisclosed destination.

Some of their jailed countrymen are militants who used political violence in a fruitless effort to force the Dutch government to help them win independence from Indonesia for their Pacific island homeland.

"If you dare not to meet our demands ... we will not hesitate or bluff to shoot down a number of hostages for your pleasure ..." the terrorists said in a letter to Dutch authorities that was released Tuesday.

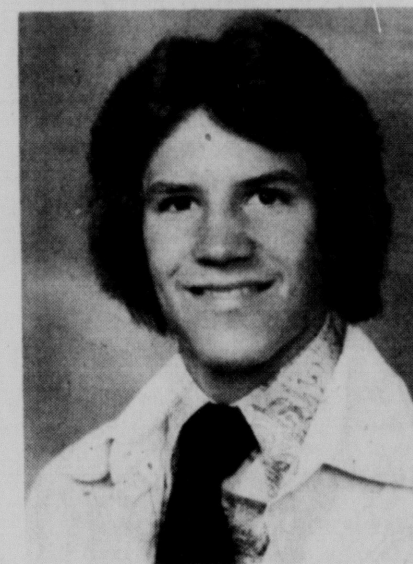

They also threatened killings if mediation was attempted, if authorities did not meet the deadline or if there are reprisals against other South Moluccans living in Holland.

As Dutch voters went to the polls for national elections, Prime Minister Joop Den Uyl met with key ministers in the Hague to discuss the hostage situation.

His government has refused to discuss any deals unless the children being held in the farming village of Bovensmilde are released first.

Including the children, more than 150 hostages were being held at the two locations.

Freshman Scholarship Awarded

MARK RUSTIN

Mark Rustin, a senior at Circleville High School, has been awarded a scholarship from the University of Tennessee.

The freshman scholarship, given by the National Alumni Association, is valued at $1,200. Previous to receiving the award, Rustin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Rustin, 680 Ridgewood Drive, had been accepted for admission at the school.

While at Circleville, he was a member of the Key Club, and as a senior in the Lt. Gov. Key Club. He was also in the senior and junior class plays, English Merit Society and the National Honor Society.

At the University of Tennessee, Rustin plans to go into pre-med with a chemistry major.

Toos Faber, a justice ministry spokeswoman at crisis headquarters in this northern Holland city, described the negotiations with the gunmen as "courteous and businesslike."

Officials expressed growing concern for the condition and "mental state" of the young hostages, aged 6 to 12.

An authoritative source said at least three are known to be ill and are receiving medication sent in by police and administered by teachers held with the children in a classroom of the school.

The telephone talks were initiated by terrorist leaders on the hijacked train 10 miles north of Assen.

A Moluccan leader, Dr. Theo Kuhuwaal, launched a voluntary, last-minute mediation effort Tuesday night. Mrs. Faber said he continued "orientation discussions" with Moluccan community leaders but so far has not contacted the gunmen in the school.

The government has refused to discuss any deals until the 105 children, aged 6 to 12, are released from a village school in Bovensmilde, a farming village on the outskirts of Assen. The terrorists have given no indication they are willing to do that.

While voters went to the polls for national elections today, Prime Minister Joop Den Uyl met with key ministers in the Hague as contact with the terrorists was made.

Six gunmen have held the children and six teachers hostage in the single-story elementary school since about 9 a.m. Monday. Seven terrorists, one believed to be a woman, hijacked a passenger train about the same time and have held at least 50 persons hostage on it.

Dutch Schoolboy Tells Of Escape

BOVENSILDE, The Netherlands (AP) — Roald was in the school gymnasium when he saw someone draw the blinds in his classroom. He knew something was wrong.

"Then a couple of my Moluccan friends ran over and warned us that bad things were happening," said the blue-eyed 9-year-old, who asked not to be fully identified.

Roald, nicknamed "titmouse" by his friends because he speaks so softly, fled across the school grounds with two of his friends. They crawled through a hedge and ran home.

But Roald's 10-year-old brother, 104 of his schoolmates and six teachers at the elementary school in this farming village of northern Holland were not so lucky. They have been held by six armed South Moluccan terrorists since Monday morning.

Fifteen of the children trapped by the terrorists were Moluccans and were quickly released. The rest were herded together to wait.

"It has upset my mother a lot," Roald said. "She hasn't had any sleep since the Moluccans took my brother Johan hostage. My father's the same, and I haven't slept well either. I woke up several times last night having nightmares about Johan."

The school takeover deeply divided the residents of Bovensmilde, on bank of the North William's Canal in the table-flat farmland of Holland's bible belt.

The approximately 300 Moluccans who live around this picture-postcard village of neat gardens and red-tiled homes have been walking in shadows since the gunmen struck. The villagers are angry and there has been some talk about vigilante action to take Moluccan children hostage and try to make a trade with the gunmen.

Roald said the siege will not affect his friendship with his Moluccan classmates. "I've got nothing against them," he said.

"But there's always been this difference between us," he said. "They don't play in our street and we don't play in theirs. But at school, it's different. We all play there together ... it's nice."

Weather

Partly cloudy and warm today with a high in the middle 80s. Fair tonight with a low in the middle 50s. Mostly sunny Thursday with a high in the lower 80s. Chances of precipitation, 20 per cent today and 10 per cent tonight and Thursday. Tuesday's high was 87 with a low of 63. The sun will set 8:49 p.m. today and rise 6:08 a.m. Thursday.

Cold Front Brings Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A slow-moving cold front was still providing parts of the West with badly needed rainfall this morning, and was expected to keep it there for another 24 hours.

Showers and isolated thunderstorms were scattered from Montana to Arizona, and thundershowers were active over eastern Colorado and northeast New Mexico. Rain was forecast for much of the northern and central Pacific coast.

Early Tuesday night, thunderstorms moved through parts of western North Dakota. One hit Williston, N.D., with winds strong enough to blow trees down.

There were storms in the East as well this morning. The most numerous and heaviest extended from Virginia to Georgia.

Still another area of thundershowers was located over southern Louisiana.

Mild temperatures, mostly in the 60s and 70s, prevailed from the plains to the Atlantic coast. The West had 40s and 50s, with some 30s in the higher elevations.

Overnight temperatures ranged from 79 in Key West, Fla., to 37 in Ely, Nev.

Housing Amendment Clears Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposed ballot amendment to revive Ohio's stagnant public housing program has cleared its first major hurdle in the legislature and now faces Senate scrutiny.

Legislation to "clearly establish that state housing assistance programs are a valid public purpose" was approved 69-25 Tuesday over considerable opposition and an attempt to water down the plan.

The House also approved 84-6 and sent the Senate a bill authorizing a state-backed loan program to stimulate growth of medium-sized businesses in Ohio.

State senators unanimously adopted a conference report on a bill to rename Interstate 71, which links Cincinnati and Cleveland, "Disabled American Veterans Highway." Final approval must still come in the House.

The housing amendment is similar to the issue Gov. James A. Rhodes included in his multibillion-dollar bond package in 1975. It was defeated, but supporters contended the housing plan was dragged down by the governor's other three ill-fated issues, two of which required tax increases.

Ironically, Rep. Edward F. Feighan, D-8 Cleveland, sponsor of the revived amendment used one of Rhodes' slogans in presenting it to the House: "We're talking about jobs and progress," he said.

"Ohio really has no public housing program," Feighan said. "This amendment will allow the state to take some aggressive action to try to stem the tide of deterioration in our urban and rural areas."

Feighan wants to unshackle the state's existing, 2½-year-old housing law that was struck down on constitutional grounds by a 1976 state Supreme Court decision.

The Ohio Constitution bars the lending of state aid or credit, as proposed by the Feighan housing amendment, except for a "public purpose."

For Feighan, senate approval of the amendment would be the second step. The resolution would then go before voters on the November ballot.

It would enable the state to issue revenue bonds of up to $100 million and make direct loans to lenders and private housing developers for low and moderate income housing.

An amendment offered on the floor by Rep. Richard H. Finan, R-19 Cincinnati, to remove the direct lending provision from the measure was narrowly tabled 49-46. It would have forced loans for housing to be funneled through private lending institutions.

Rep. Patrick A. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, said that would perpetuate "the evil of redlining" by which banks and loan agencies reject aid to run-down inner city areas as imprudent.

Not only did the housing plan split big city lawmakers like Finan and Sweeney, it divided Republicans.

Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69 Maumee, a Lucas County builder, said Ohioans were "sick and tired and fed up with government benefit programs."

"Where is the housing shortage?" Galbraith asked. "In case you haven't noticed, Ohio is losing population."

But Rep. Waldo Bennet Rose, R-84 Lima, said a remedy was needed for a situation in which "hard working, middle class Ohioans are being knocked out of an opportunity" to own their own home.

A second bill, sponsored by House Finance Chairman Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, would fund a little-used 17-year-old loan program of the Ohio Development Financing Commission.

With $5.3 million in loan authority, Shoemaker said the commission can help medium sized firms "overcome the greatest obstacle facing their growth—the purchase of buildings."

"The loans can be used solely for the purchase of buildings and cannot be used for payroll (and) equipment," he said.

"This appropriation will allow for the creation of 4,100 new jobs in this state," Shoemaker predicted.

Nixon Tells Of Agnew Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, who fought his own accusers to the brink of impeachment, says he never had much hope that his vice president could survive the charges that finally pushed him from office in disgrace.

In the fourth of his interviews by television personality David Frost, to be aired tonight, Nixon says that when he learned of the Justice Department's case in 1973 against Spiro T. Agnew, "There wasn't any question ... that he MOSQUITO spraying will be completed in the Circleville area tonight and the Ashville area Thursday, according to the Pickaway County Health Department.

Tonight, crews will be in Circleville, Logan Elm Village, Jefferson Addition, and Elsea Trailer Court.

Thursday, they will be in Ashville, Millport, South Bloomfield, and surrounding trailer parks.

Hours are from 5 to 10 p.m.

THE Unemployment rate in Pickaway County during April was 6.2 per cent according to the Ohio Labor Market Information bulletin.

There were 16,769 members in the labor force of which 15,724 held jobs. The state average was 6.2 per cent during the month.

was frankly going to get it."

In tonight's segment Nixon also says he decided against pardoning former aides John D. Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman for their involvement in the Watergate scandal because "If my last act (as president) was to pardon everybody ... that would inflame the situation and also would obviously look like the ultimate cover-up."

The interview is the fourth and last of the current series, which is expected to pay Nixon more than $1 million. Frost taped 29 hours with Nixon and the $600,000 plus share-of-profits contracts allow one more hourlong show, but it won't be aired until fall.

The show's producers were hoping tonight's topics, also including Nixon's thoughts about his own pardon from President Ford and matters relating to his final days in office, would wind up the series with a rebound in the audience ratings.

According to new figures from nationwide Nielsen surveys, the first interview, based on Watergate, drew an audience of 17.3 million homes, or 41 per cent of all viewers during that period on May 4. The second show, on world affairs, dropped to 8.5 million homes or 25 per cent.

A Frost spokesman says the third show, a week ago, probably drew under 20 per cent of the audience. Industry standards say it takes a 30 per cent audience for a show to be considered a ratings success.

In tonight's interview, Nixon says his handling of the Agnew case was "pragmatic" without putting himself in the position of a judge.

The former president, who at the time had plenty of his own problems because of Watergate, says he asked Agnew point-blank on Sept. 25, 1973, whether he was innocent and the vice president replied that he was.

But, Nixon said, Henry E. Petersen, head of the Justice Department's criminal division, told him the case against Agnew was strong. The department had put together a 40-page statement detailing kickback payments from engineering firms to the vice president. Agnew later was allowed to plead no contest to a single charge of tax evasion and was placed on three years probation.

At Agnew's business office in Crofton, Md., an associate said Agnew will be out of town for two weeks and will have no comment on Nixon's statement.

Notaries Public Law Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Notaries public will have to pay higher fees for their commissions, but will be able to exercise statewide jurisdiction under a law effective Aug. 23.

Gov. James A. Rhodes signed the bill on Tuesday.

It raises fees for a five-year notary commission to an attorney from $5 to $10, while the nonattorney fee goes from $2 to $5.

Notaries serving when the bill takes effect will be permitted to carry out their functions statewide.

The legislation was sponsored by Rep. Ike Thompson, D-13 Cleveland.

Market Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices turned upward today in a technical rebound from the slide of the past four sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose a fraction in early trading.

Gainers took a 4-3 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said some buying was attracted by the depressed prices of many issues with the Dow at a 16-month low.

They noted that the market still had to contend with inflation worries and expectations of a continued rise in interest rates.

Today's early prices included Honeywell, up 1/4 at 50; General Motors, ahead 1/4 at 67 1/2, and International Paper, down 1/4 at 52 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 4.66 to 912.40, its lowest close since it finished at 911.13 on Jan. 9, 1976.

For the past four sessions the average showed a decline of 29.51 points.

Losers outnumbered gainers by more than a 5-2 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 20.05 million shares, against 23.92 million on Monday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .29 to 53.44.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped .84 to 113.23.

Blast Hits Air Office

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The main office of Mackey International Airlines, a charter company which recently began flying to Cuba, was heavily damaged by a bomb today. The firm's owner said he was calling off all flights to the Communist-ruled island.

"We will not fly to Cuba under any circumstances," said Joe Mackey. "I hate to give up, but too many lives are involved. I am not going to risk one of my employees' lives."

Spokesmen for the Broward County Fire Department said the 12:15 a.m. explosion blew away the front of the one-story building, which houses several other businesses related to the airline or operated by the same owners.

There was no fire. Windows were shattered in an office building across the street. Broward arson and bomb investigators picked through the rubble, looking for clues to the blast. They said they believed it was caused by dynamite.

An anonymous caller told The Associated Press in Miami that, "A bomb was placed at Mackey Airlines in Fort Lauderdale by the Boitel Commandos. As the human rights of the people there are violated, we will continue our struggle."

An organization of that name honors Pedro Luis Boitel, who died while on a hunger strike in a Havana prison in 1973. Boitel was serving a 25-year political sentence.

2-Ton Loving Cup Given To Firm

SCIO, Ohio (AP) — A loving cup is a traditional tribute, but for the owners of this community's major employer, it's a "tea cup."

This one weighs two tons and took a year to make.

The oversized cup was presented Monday to the Richard Reese family, owners of the Scio Pottery Co. by members of the Scio Civic Club.

The firm was established 44 years ago by Richard Reese's uncle, Lou Reese, and employs approximately 900 persons of Harrison County's 17,000.

The cup of white cement and calcite sand is a replica of the founding ware of the pottery company.

General Will Tell Story To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub is getting a chance to tell Congress why he thinks President Carter's planned withdrawal of U.S. ground troops from South Korea will lead to a new Korean war.

Singlaub, fired from his post as chief of staff for U.S. forces in Korea, was called to testify today before a House armed services subcommittee.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., chairman of the subcommittee, said he called Singlaub to express his opposition to President Carter's plan to withdraw all ground troops from South Korea.

"I think most of the generals and most of the members of the House are opposed to pulling ground forces out of Korea," Stratton said before the hearing.

Carter fired Singlaub Saturday for publicly saying "if we withdraw our ground forces on the schedule suggested it will lead to war."

The congressional hearing began as two of Carter's top aides began talks with South Korean officials in Seoul to explain the President's plan to gradually withdraw the 32,000 U.S. ground troops while leaving U.S. air forces there.

Singlaub's call before the congressional subcommittee was reminiscent of the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur's address to Congress in 1951 after President Truman fired him for criticizing Korean war policy.

But Stratton said the difference is that Congress listened to MacArthur then to honor him as a hero and it's listening to Singlaub today because many congressmen think he's right.

"You've got a President who has said he is going to pull ground forces out in a phased withdrawal over four or five years but no such proposal as that has ever come to Congress," Stratton said.

"Now, all of a sudden we have a general on the spot saying this step can lead to war," he said. "Since he's here in town we thought this would be a good time to call him in and hear what he has to say."

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., called Tuesday for Senate review of Carter's plan, but he said he sees no need for Singlaub to testify.

Tower, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said Senate Republicans agree the review is needed, particularly since other generals indicated opposition in testimony last March.

Both Stratton and Tower said their concern was Carter's withdrawal plan and not the propriety of Carter's recalling a general for publicly criticizing that plan.

Bill Would Create Business Funding

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 17-year-old program to provide loans for medium-sized business growth would be funded for the first time under legislation sent to the Senate with the blessing of the House Democratic leadership.

The bill, sponsored by House Finance Chairman Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, was approved 84-6 by the House Tuesday.

It contains authority for the Ohio Development Financing Commission to establish a $5.3 million loan program to aid private businesses.

"The main target of the direct loans program of the commission will be medium-sized firms — the heart of the Ohio economy," Shoemaker said. "This program will be experimental at first so that the full impact can be closely monitored."

Shoemaker said it would enable medium-sized companies to "overcome the greatest obstacle facing their growth potential—the purchase of buildings."

"The loans can be used solely for the purchase of buildings and cannot be used for payroll (and) equipment," he said.

The bill is a priority of the House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New York.

Grand Jury Will Probe Comp Fraud

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state grand jury will be impaneled by June 20 to investigate suspected worker's compensation fraud.

Acting on a request by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, Franklin County Common Pleas Court Judge Jay Flowers signed the entry Tuesday to impanel a jury by June 20 and to continue its investigation for four months.

The jury will hear witnesses and evidence accumulated since last fall when Gov. James A. Rhodes ordered the Highway Patrol to investigate the state compensation system.

Rhodes subsequently ordered Brown into the probe. On Jan. 17, the attorney general was given the power under a new state law to investigate suspected fraud in the system.

Michael Szolosi, Brown's first assistant, said the special section investigating the system now has seven lawyers and four other assistants. It will soon add an accountant.

The statewide probe was prompted by one in Cuyahoga County where more than 100 persons were charged after an investigation by county officials.

The Highway Patrol investigation has centered on lawyers and firms, as well as individuals, who might have been responsible for fraudulent claims being filed.

Mice Used To Seek Cancer Cure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three types of cancerous tumors are being treated in hairless mice at Battelle Laboratories in a screening process for potential anticancer compounds.

The research is to develop a formal procedure for evaluating the anticancer activity of selected synthetic drugs and natural products against human tumors in the hairless mice.

"These mice are particularly suited to accepting grafts of human tumors because they are athymic, they have no intact thymus (a gland-like body in the neck)," explained Dr. Artemio Ovejera, a member of the team for the $1.3 million, three-year study at Battelle.

"Consequently, they have a deficiency in immune responses, which means that they cannot resist infection or grafts."

The deficiency allows human tumors to be implanted in the athymic mice just beneath the skin to observe the effects of active anticancer agents on the tumor cells within a living organism, the scientists explained.

Using 1,000 mice per week, Battelle researchers will evaluate approximately 800 substances a year for their antitumor effect on the human breast, colon and lung cancers. The compounds are selected by the National Cancer Institute, which is funding the study.

YMCA Notes, News

Another summer of YMCA camping will begin July 5, Harold Hewitt, Director of the YMCA, announced today. "This year marks the ninth year of Y Day Camping in Pickaway County, and the 92nd year since the first YMCA camp in the world was opened in upstate New York" he said.

Last year, 1,265,973 people participated in YMCA camping across the United States. In Pickaway County, camp attendance in 1976 reached 135 in Day Camp and 38 at Camp Willson.

What makes YMCA camping so popular? "Highly skilled, well trained counselors has to be one of the reasons," Hewitt said.

Hewitt also indicated the Y's safety record as one of the key reasons for the popularity of Y camps, especially among parents.

"Certainly the variety of camp programs play a major role in our camps success," Hewitt said.

The YMCA will operate three weeks of Day Camp this summer, with camp periods running from July 5 to 9, July 11 to 15, and July 18 to 22. A number of weekend camping trips to surrounding Y camps are being planned.

For information on any of the Y's 1977 camp programs, call Harold Hewitt and 477-1661, or drop in the Y at 151 East Franklin.

If this spring and summer is like every other summer, a lot of people will die by drowning. What a waste of human resources. What a tragedy. What a shame.

And most of the time, death by drowning is totally avoidable.

People die because of overconfidence, or a lack of ability to swim. They die because they really never knew how to swim.

As they say in the YMCA, "the safest thing you can put around your pool or lake isn't a fence, it's a boy or girl who can swim!"

For the ninth session, the Pickaway County YMCA will offer a series of lessons for non-swimmers. They call it "The Learn-to-Swim Program" and we think it's a great idea. No, kids who learn to swim at the Y won't be ready for the Olympics, but they will have some basic skills and a foundation for learning. It might just save some youngster's life.

Swimming registration is May 26, and classes begin June 20. We think it's a pretty good investment. We urge parents who have non-swimmers in the home to call the Y and make arrangements to enroll in the Y Learn-to-Swim Program. Call 477-1661.

Slate Moonshine Festival Friday

NEW STRAITSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The Moonshine Festival gets underway Friday as volunteer firemen try to make enough money to replace the firehouse and equipment wiped out by a fire.

The Jan. 30 fire, set accidentally by youths stealing gasoline, left the Perry County village of nearly 1,000 without its own fire protection.

Richard Hoy, a Corning fireman, was killed in the blaze.

If the the four-day festival makes substantial profit, a spokesman said a donation probably would be made to the department.

Mr. Beavers also commended Tony Crist who placed 18 in the state on the National Mathematics exam and the team of Tony Crist, Jerry Scanlan, and Jeff McKay who placed 13 in the state.

The D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award was presented to John Scanlan.

Mrs. Bigam's Business and Office Education awards were given to Rose Hoffman, the outstanding senior, Wray Jean Beavers, top junior in typing and Pat Minshall, top junior in shorthand.

Seniors recognized for perfect attendance for multiple years were Thorndike Barnhart since sixth grade, Debbie Batz since fifth grade, Tim Hartranft since sixth grade, Kevelyn Maxson since fourth grade, Dave Rittinger since sixth grade and Kathy Weaver since seventh grade. Tony Holbrook who attends the Pickaway Ross Vocational School has four years perfect attendance.

Starla Van Curen received the Betty Crocker Family Living Award from Mrs. Sims.

Who's Who in Foreign Languages in Ohio High Schools, a non-profit publication by Ohio foreign language teachers to promote excellence in the study of foreign language recognized Rose Hoffman, Jim Nothstine, Jackie Cave, Jeff Morton, Allen Strous, Cheryl Hawkins, Brent Gifford, and Terry Wallington. Mrs. Winner also recognized Lisa Roberts, Kim Strous, and Tina Woods for their tutoring of Spanish students.

Mrs. Suddath presented Cindy Chapman an award for honorable mention in the state poetry contest sponsored by Defiance College, Allen Strous and Deb Larson awards for advanced composition.

Basic awards of Distinction were presented to Deb Larson, Robin Manson, Belinda Seimer, and Allen Strous. Vocational awards of Distinction were presented to Dave Rittinger, Greg Arnett, Jackie Mettler, and Starla Van Curen.

Allen Strous was recognized as a Regional Scholar of Ohio University and one of the top American history winners in the Ohio University Contest held earlier in the year.

Mr. Kobel presented Traci Ward with a certificate from the Youth for Understanding program.

Logan Elm had received advance notification from the Ohio Department of Education of students who had excelled on the Ohio Scholarship Tests given on May 5. Mr. Beavers presented certificates to Jerry Scanlan, for eighth in the district and honorable mention in the state in Algebra II; Cheryl Hawkins for 17 in the district in Algebra II; William Waidelich for first in the district and 10 in the state in Geometry; Joe Baehr for fourth in the district and 17 in the state in geometry; and Carl DeBruin for 10 in the district and honorable mention in the state in geometry.

Mrs. Winner presented certificates to Travis Baker who was second in the district and 18 in the state in Spanish I, to Susan Hoffman who was third in the district and 20th in the state in Spanish I, and Joan Bowman who was 17 in the district in French I.

In English II Patty Larson received 5 in the district and honorable mention in the state and in English 12, Allen Strous received fifth in the district and honorable mention in the state. The entire school recognized Mr. Welch and the American History Scholarship team, who received first in the state on the test. They were David Cain, Jim Nothstine, and Cathy Wilson. David Cain for the second year in a row received second in the state on a scholarship test. He was first in the district. Jim was second in the district and sixth in the state.

Mr. Kobel presented awards to all the scholarship team who were Jeff Morton, Rock Huggins, Susan Traylor, Richard Morrison, Judy Wilmouth, Travis Baker, Linda Cain, Kim Hayslip, Cathy Wilson, Pam Adams, Stacey Brown, Kim Walker, Bill Archer, Sue Smith, Joan Bowman, Sheri Noble, Kami Poling, Kim Williams, Patti Mueller, Cheryl Johnston, Tammy Reichelderfer, Pat Larson, Patti Rhodes, Deb Larson, Tina Woods, Kim Thurston, Janelle Kerns, Jim Nothstine, Will Waidelich, Carl DeBruin, Joe Baehr, Jackie Cave, Scott Warren, Brian Lear, Linda Brown, Bruce Carter, Tony Crist, Kim Strous, Susan Hoffman, David Cain, Cheryl Hawkins, Jerry Scanlan, Jeff McKay, Starla Van Curen, Cathy Watson, and Allen Strous.

Allen Strous received the National Merit Commended Scholar award and Chris Blubaugh the National Merit Finalist award. Chris is the first merit scholar from Logan Elm.

Later the Veterans of Foreign Wars presented certificates of recognition to Lisa Roberts for first, Beth Spangler for second, and to Mike Davis for participation in the Voice of Democracy contest. Mr. Delong was also presented a certificate for the school.

YMCA Notes, News

Another summer of YMCA camping will begin July 5, Harold Hewitt, Director of the YMCA, announced today. "This year marks the ninth year of Y Day Camping in Pickaway County, and the 92nd year since the first YMCA camp in the world was opened in upstate New York" he said.

Last year, 1,265,973 people participated in YMCA camping across the United States. In Pickaway County, camp attendance in 1976 reached 135 in Day Camp and 38 at Camp Willson.

What makes YMCA camping so popular? "Highly skilled, well trained counselors has to be one of the reasons," Hewitt said.

Hewitt also indicated the Y's safety record as one of the key reasons for the popularity of Y camps, especially among parents.

"Certainly the variety of camp programs play a major role in our camps success," Hewitt said.

The YMCA will operate three weeks of Day Camp this summer, with camp periods running from July 5 to 9, July 11 to 15, and July 18 to 22. A number of weekend camping trips to surrounding Y camps are being planned.

For information on any of the Y's 1977 camp programs, call Harold Hewitt and 477-1661, or drop in the Y at 151 East Franklin.

If this spring and summer is like every other summer, a lot of people will die by drowning. What a waste of human resources. What a tragedy. What a shame.

And most of the time, death by drowning is totally avoidable.

People die because of over-confidence, or a lack of ability to swim. They die because they really never knew how to swim.

As they say in the YMCA, "the safest thing you can put around your pool or lake isn't a fence, it's a boy or girl who can swim!"

For the ninth session, the Pickaway County YMCA will offer a series of lessons for non-swimmers. They call it "The Learn-to-Swim Program" and we think it's a great idea. No, kids who learn to swim at the Y won't be ready for the Olympics, but they will have some basic skills and a foundation for learning. It might just save some youngster's life.

Swimming registration is May 26, and classes begin June 20. We think it's a pretty good investment. We urge parents who have non-swimmers in the home to call the Y and make arrangements to enroll in the Y Learn-to-Swim Program. Call 477-1661.

Logan Elm Students Place In State Tests

Several students from Logan Elm placed in the state scholarship tests given this year.

Cheryl Hawkins was 17th in the district in Algebra II and Jerry Scanlan was eighth in Algebra II and received honorable mention in the state.

Carl DeBruin was 10th in the district in geometry and received honorable mention in the state.

Joe Baehr was fourth in geometry in the district by division, 17th in the state by division and 12th in the district regardless of the size of school.

Will Waidelich was first in the district by division, was 10th in the state and ranked sixth in the district regardless of the size of school.

The American History team was first in the state by division. Jim Nothstine was second in history by division, third in the state by division and fourth in the district regardless of the size of the school and sixth in the state regardless of the size of the school. David Cain was first in the district by division, second in the state by division, first in the district regardless of the size of the school and second in the state regardless of the size of the school.

Patti Larson was fifth in English II by division and honorable mention in the state by division. Allen Strous was fifth in English 12 by division and received honorable mention in the state.

Joan Bowman was 17th in the district in French I. Susan Hoffman was third in the district in Spanish I and 20th in the state. Travis Baker was second in the district in Spanish I and 18th in the state.

Slate Moonshine Festival Friday

NEW STRAITSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The Moonshine Festival gets underway Friday as volunteer firemen try to make enough money to replace the firehouse and equipment wiped out by a fire.

The Jan. 30 fire, set accidentally by youths stealing gasoline, left the Perry County village of nearly 1,000 without its own fire protection.

Richard Hoy, a Corning fireman, was killed in the blaze.

If the the four-day festival makes substantial profit, a spokesman said a donation probably would be made to the department.

Soviet Oil Activity

When the CIA claimed, in a study released in April, that the Soviet Union — the world's largest oil producer — would face a serious oil decline within a few years and become a major oil importer, much skepticism poured fourth. There even were hints that the CIA was overstating the Soviet case for some nefarious purpose.

If anything, the case as revealed publicly may have been understated. The Soviet Union already is importing oil from Libya, Syria and Iraq and has approached Iran about purchasing some of its oil.

Because of the secrecy surrounding Soviet trade motives, it is not known how much oil Moscow wanted to buy from the Iranians. But it is known the Kremlin offered a handsome exchange — hydroelectric power to Iran from the Aras dam on the Soviet side of the border the two countries share.

Does all this interest in importing oil mean the Soviets already are running short of their own? Not necessarily. Remember the large wheat purchases the Soviets made from the United States a couple of harvests ago?

Aside from proving themselves sharp traders at the time, the Soviets subsequently were found to have stockpiled a large part of their wheat purchases and sold some of it to eastern allies at a profit. Whether something of the sort now is going on with oil, the CIA isn't saying—if it knows. But don't bet the Soviets won't try to edge their way into oil flows now going predominantly to the west, if they can.

18 Holes With An Immortal

By JIM BISHOP

He's immortal. Gene Sarazen doesn't look it. He's 75, an old man with a boyish grin, one who is addicted to wearing knickerbocker pants. He won golf championships in the days when the top 10 split $1,500.

We shared a golf cart at the Marco Island course. Frank Mackle and Gene Kroll were in the other cart. Kroll's claim to fame is that he is a left-handed Ford dealer. Mackle, an old friend, invented Marco Island, a plush resort on the Gulf of Mexico.

The immortal was willing to bet a dime a hole. His mistake was in choosing me as his partner. I had a head full of his championships and his records. This kind of thinking will not improve a backswing.

Sarazen is easy to know. Unlike most champions, he speaks softly of his triumphs and mistakes. "The best move I ever made," he said, "was not in golf. My wife and I had a big farm up north. We gave it to our children — just gave it away — and moved into a condominium on Marco Island."

"You know what it means. You have no further responsibility than turning a key in the lock." Perhaps. But I own a Chinese house and I like the feeling of property under my feet.

Fifty-five years ago, the critics said Sarazen couldn't win a championship because he was only five-feet five-inches. The best he could do was hit a ball 250 yards. He was outshot 30 or 40 yards by the big fellows.

He won the National Open in 1922 at a place called Glencoe, Illinois. In those days you could win and still lose money paying your expenses. In 1931, he was crossing on the Berengaria with Walter Hagen to try for the British Open when the flashy man said, "Gene, you'll never win this one unless you have the right caddy."

His name was Skip Daniels. He ruined a black suit by putting it on. The high collar was soiled with yellow stains. His head was encased in a crushed cap. He was as old as heather. In the rough, Daniels suggested a four wood. Sarazen chose a three. The ball limped 20 yards. Gene hit it again.

He drew a seven and blew the tournament. The following year, he followed every suggestion made by the old man. "We won," Sarazen said. "I gave him my polo coat. He wore it to the pub every night as he told the story over and over."

The key to Sarazen's character is that he never gives up. In the Masters Tournament of 1935, he was four shots behind Craig Wood on the 15th hole of the final round. Sarazen's tee shot was in a small hole. He holed a four wood on a 485-yard par five and dropped it in the hole for a double eagle. He tied Wood and beat him in the playoff.

But this is history. In 1932 when he won the British Open he was 13 under par, never the long-ball hitter but always the most accurate. He watched Frank Mackle hit a boomer into the wrong fairway. "Catholic golf," he muttered, "a cross here and a cross there."

Sarazen is two or three clubs shorter than he used to be. "I try to shoot my age," he said. It's a good day if he comes in with a 75 or 74. As always, he plays fast. In 1947, he blamed Ben Hogan and Cary Middlecoff for slow play.

The judges heard it and put Sarazen and Gene Fazio on the first tee at the earliest time. They finished 18 holes in one hour, 57 minutes. Gene had a 70. Arthritis hurts his hands. He uses a short, flat back stroke. The ball bounces to where he wants it. Kroll kept hitting short and straight. "Dangerous man," Gene Sarazen said. "He chips and putts for the money."

We were one up coming into the 18th. Mackle and Kroll owed us a dime. Sarazen won't criticize Mackle's golf because Frank is president of Daltona, which owns the green paradise. He was unafraid to criticize mine.

"You handle a wood as though you are a butcher trying to split the ball in half," he said. "On your short shots, you take a full backswing. Bad golf. It's fortunate that you love the game."

Frank Mackle was 170 yards out. He hit a five wood. It flew inside out and upside down. The old man in the plus fours watched it with a frown.

It hit the flag near the bottom and dropped into the hole. Sarazen put on his kid grin. "Holly Mackle!" he murmured. Then he said, "Don't tell Frank I said that."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Are American families struggling to make ends meet?

Some of the latest statistics from Washington suggest it isn't so.

Personal income rose strongly in February and March, and the improvement continued into April, when $11.1 billion was added to the total, bringing the seasonally adjusted annual rate to $1.5 trillion.

The biggest expansion ever in consumer installment credit, some $2.72 billion, was recorded in March. Now the total of installment debt outstanding stands at nearly $180 billion, 11.8 per cent above a year ago.

These numbers really don't give a true indication of just how strong the trend is, because they are net balances, arrived at by deducting loans paid from new loans extended.

In terms of new credit obligations assumed, March was the fourth straight month in which a new record was set. The month's total was $18.25 billion, reduced to a net of $2.72 billion by $15 billion to $16 billion of repayments.

So, you say, people have to borrow in order to keep house and home together. No, that's not the answer. People borrowed to buy automobiles and to improve their homes and to take vacations.

Installment credit, say those who study it, usually is taken out for very positive reasons, to buy something a family might have been considering for months rather than just to make ends meet.

Robert Johnson, executive director of the Credit Research Center at Purdue University, calls credit "an expression of confidence." People now are feeling right about taking on commitments that might extend years into the future.

Are Americans mortgaging that future?

Not at all, says Johnson. "Repayments as a percentage of disposable personal income in the first quarter were only 14.7 per cent. We've seen it as high as 16 or 17 per cent."

But with all these figures you cannot really dismiss as a myth the complaint of some people that they can barely make ends meet. The figures cited are aggregates. Aggregates produce generalizations and generalizations mean exceptions.

Johnson believes that some middle-income families are exceptions. For them, he says, "it must be an incredible struggle just to keep food on the table regularly."

Such middle-income families, he comments, have none of the advantages of the rich and few of the subsidies of the poor.

Members of the Circleville Jaycees unanimously approved a motion to establish an "Airport Building Fund" for Pickaway County. The Jaycees backed up their decision by pledging $1,000 to launch the fund.

Owners announced plans to re-open Bingman's Drugs. The building had been destroyed by a tragic explosion and fire on April 15.

Common Pleas Judge William Ammer was selected to represent the Ohio State Bar Association at a conference on crime control in Washington D. C.

The concrete base for the monument and flag pole was poured just north of the City Building. The project was undertaken by the Fraternal Order of Police to honor deceased members of the Circleville Police Department.

LAFF - A - DAY
HOSPITAL CASHIER

"We can stop searching for a name. Let's just call him Bill."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

When I call my doctor, even at his suggestion, I feel as if I must first pass muster with a sergeant in the Marine Corps. His nurse's attitude drives every thought out of my head and if she finally consents to let me talk to the doctor I forget much of what I wanted to ask. Worse than that, I forget what he said! Why do some nurses seem to be so belligerent with patients?

Mrs. A.J.I., Tex.

Dear Mrs. I.:
It is essential that the doctor, during office hours, be protected from telephone calls as much as possible. This is understandable. But the attitude you describe has no place in the doctor-patient relationship and, in fact, can be very destructive to it. You have a right to call the doctor. The doctor has a right to be too busy to talk to you at the moment. It is simple to set a mutually convenient time when such conversation can be unhurried and meaningful.

I recently called a colleague to report on a patient of his whom I had seen in consultation. Even though I introduced myself to the nurse as "Doctor" her supercilious attitude prompted her to say, "The doctor is busy. Can I help you?" I deliberately said, "You certainly can. Would you be good enough to tell me if there is any coronary or pulmonary contraindication to the surgery of the larynx that I intend to do for your patient?"

Of course, she was speechless, then quickly suggested she'd better have the doctor answer that himself... which is exactly what she should have done in the first place.

Even in this case, the doctor might well have been busy, but the nurse would have served the doctor and the caller better had she said, "I'm so sorry, the doctor is unable to come to the phone now. Can I have him call you back?"

With such courtesy, the relationship between doctors and patients (and even colleagues) is solidified. The inflection of the voice actually becomes as important as the words themselves. Patients, tense and anxious about physical symptoms, need gentleness, reassurance and kindness from receptionists and nurses.

Every person in contact with the patient makes a definite imprint on the harmonious affinity with the doctor. Warm understanding, even under the duress of frenetic office and hospital activity, is the right of every patient.

I wonder if your doctor knows about his nurses' attitude. If he does not, you would be doing him an enormous service by calling this to his attention. For he, too, is the beneficiary of the civility that should be directed to all his patients.

Family Starts Own Flea Market Stand

CINCINNATI (AP)—After spending many Sundays at flea markets, the Ingram family decided they had enough junk of their own to compete for sales.

Perry Ingram also figures it will give him something to pass the time after he retires next year from his job as a bartender.

"We've never thrown a thing away in the 35 years we've been married," explained Jan Ingram. "When I saw what other folks were selling, I figured we could do it too."

The Ingrams rummaged through their attic, garage and basement in suburban Cheviot, discovering more than enough odds and ends to get them started. Now friends call the Ingrams before they call the junkman.

Though some dealers at the antique market sell strictly old furniture or glass, the Ingrams sell just about anything that's old or unusual.

"It's amazing the things some people will buy. I can't image what they do with the stuff. But as they say, your trash is somebody else's treasure," Mrs. Ingram said.

The Ingrams rented a booth for the first time Sunday at the Boone County Fairgrounds for the twice-monthly flea market. They got hooked on the business by accident four years ago when they visited the market at Burlington, Ky. and others on the Ohio side of the Ohio River. They've been frequenting the Boone County, Ky. fairs, conducting one Sunday each month during the summer, for two years.

Ingram was particularly pleased Sunday to have sold an old copper diving helmet he picked up three or four years ago.

"I thought we'd be carting that around for another ten years," he said. "I was thinking about turning it into a lamp or a fish bowl but it was the first thing we sold."

Ingram was asking $50. He got $30. "I've never been one to sit around. When I retire, I'll have something to do. We do pretty good now. As long as we make expenses, that's all we care about," Ingram said.

Mrs. Ingram collects some antiques that she's had difficulty parting with. "I fell in love with this coffee grinder. I didn't want to sell it so I marked up the price. Hoping no one would buy it. Instead, a man offered me what I was asking. I had no other choice. I sold it, but I cried later," she said.

He won the National Open in 1922 at a place called Glencoe, Illinois. In those days you could win and still lose money paying your expenses. In 1931, he was crossing on the Berengaria with Walter Hagen to try for the British Open when the flashy man said, "Gene, you'll never win this one unless you have the right caddy."

His name was Skip Daniels. He ruined a black suit by putting it on. The high collar was soiled with yellow stains. His head was encased in a crushed cap. He was as old as heather. In the rough, Daniels suggested a four wood. Sarazen chose a three. The ball limped 20 yards. Gene hit it again.

He drew a seven and blew the tournament. The following year, he followed every suggestion made by the old man. "We won," Sarazen said. "I gave him my polo coat. He wore it to the pub every night as he told the story over and over."

The key to Sarazen's character is that he never gives up. In the Masters Tournament of 1935, he was four shots behind Craig Wood on the 15th hole of the final round. Sarazen's tee shot was in a small hole. He hooded a four wood on a 485-yard par five and dropped it in the hole for a double eagle. He tied Wood and beat him in the playoff.

But this is history. In 1932 when he won the British Open he was 13 under par, never the long-ball hitter but always the most accurate. He watched Frank Mackle hit a boomer into the wrong fairway. "Catholic golf," he muttered, "a cross here and a cross there."

Sarazen is two or three clubs shorter than he used to be. "I try to shoot my age," he said. It's a good day if he comes in with a 75 or 74. As always, he plays fast. In 1947, he blamed Ben Hogan and Cary Middlecoff for slow play.

The judges heard it and put Sarazen and Gene Fazio on the first tee at the earliest time. They finished 18 holes in one hour, 57 minutes. Gene had a 70.

Arthritis hurts his hands. He uses a short, flat back stroke. The ball bounces to where he wants it. Kroll kept hitting short and straight. "Dangerous man," Gene Sarazen said. "He chips and puts for the money."

We were one up coming into the 18th. Mackle and Kroll owed us a dime. Sarazen won't criticize Mackle's golf because Frank is president of Daltona, which owns the green paradise. He was unafraid to criticize mine.

"You handle a wood as though you are a butcher trying to split the ball in half," he said. "On your short shots, you take a full backswing. Bad golf, it's fortunate that you love the game."

Frank Mackle was 170 yards out. He hit a five wood. It flew inside out and upside down. The old man in the plus fours watched it with a frown.

It hit the flag near the bottom and dropped into the hole. Sarazen put on his kid grin. "Holly Mackle!" he murmured. Then he said, "Don't tell Frank I said that."

NEW YORK (AP) — Are American families struggling to make ends meet?

Some of the latest statistics from Washington suggest it isn't so.

Personal income rose strongly in February and March, and the improvement continued into April, when $11.1 billion was added to the total, bringing the seasonally adjusted annual rate to $15.5 trillion.

The biggest expansion ever in consumer installment credit, some $2.72 billion, was recorded in March. Now the total of installment debt outstanding stands at nearly $180 billion, 11.8 per cent above a year ago.

These numbers really don't give a true indication of just how strong the trend is, because they are net balances, arrived at by deducting loans paid from new loans extended.

In terms of new credit obligations assumed, March was the fourth straight month in which a new record was set. The month's total was $18.25 billion, reduced to a net of $2.72 billion by $15 billion to $16 billion of repayments.

So, you say, people have to borrow in order to keep house and home together. No, that's not the answer. People borrowed to buy automobiles and to improve their homes and to take vacations.

Installment credit, say those who study it, usually is taken out for very positive reasons, to buy something a family might have been considering for months rather than just to make ends meet.

Robert Johnson, executive director of the Credit Research Center at Purdue University, calls credit "an expression of confidence." People now are feeling right about taking on commitments that might extend years into the future.

Are Americans mortgaging that future?

Not at all, says Johnson. "Repayments as a percentage of disposable personal income in the first quarter were only 14.7 per cent. We've seen it as high as 16 or 17 per cent."

But with all these figures you cannot really dismiss as a myth the complaint of some people that they can barely make ends meet. The figures cited are aggregates. Aggregates produce generalizations and generalizations mean exceptions.

Johnson believes that some middle-income families are exceptions. For them, he says, "it must be an incredible struggle just to keep food on the table regularly."

Such middle-income families, he comments, have none of the advantages of the rich and few of the subsidies of the poor.

Members of the Circleville Jaycees unanimously approved a motion to establish an "Airport Building Fund" for Pickaway County. The Jaycees backed up their decision by pledging $1,000 to launch the fund.

Owners announced plans to re-open Bingman's Drugs. The building had been destroyed by a tragic explosion and fire on April 15.

Common Pleas Judge William Ammer was selected to represent the Ohio State Bar Association at a conference on crime control in Washington D. C.

The concrete base for the monument and flag pole was poured just north of the City Building. The project was undertaken by the Fraternal Order of Police to honor deceased members of the Circleville Police Department.

Miners, Owners Fight EPA

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP) — Miners and operators in this coal-producing eastern Ohio county are usually as friendly as dogs and cats. These days they see eye-to-eye on an issue that worries them.

Even during the height of the recent strike by 16,000 miners in the area, both sides were united against the federal government's proposed restrictions on the use of high sulfur coal, the variety mined in Ohio.

"We're fighting for survival," says John Guzek Jr., president of District 6 of the United Mine Workers.

"This is one of the few times union and management are cooperating," adds Sam Warbel, vice president of operations for North American Coal Co. which has six mines in Belmont County.

The sides are joined in a dispute with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency over the adoption of pollution discharge limits for Ohio utilities and industry. The state failed to provide an accepted set of standards.

After a five-year regulatory fight between utilities, industries, the state, and federal government, the U.S. EPA took, over in August, producing regulations for 55 counties under the Clean Air Act of 1970.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, May 25, the 145th day of 1977. There are 220 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1787, delegates to the Constitutional Convention met in Independence Hall to frame the U.S. Constitution.

On this date:

In 1803, poet and philosopher Ralph Waldo Emerson was born in Boston.

In 1862, Confederate troops under Gen. Stonewall Jackson defeated a Union force in the Civil War Battle of Winchester, Va.

In 1944, in World War II, the Anzio beachhead in Italy was linked with the Allied front.

In 1961, President John Kennedy asked the nation to strive to send Americans to the moon within the next decade.

In 1970, the United States placed the first of its MIRV missiles in underground concrete silos at an Air Force base at Minot, N.D.

Ten years ago: The wives and children of American officials in Egypt and Israel were ordered by the State Department to leave because of the danger due to hostilities between the two countries.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon and Soviet officials were conferring in Moscow on increasing trade between the United States and the Soviet Union.

One year ago: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, in Luxembourg, said there were indications that Cuban military forces were being withdrawn from Angola.

Today's birthdays: President Tito of Yugoslavia is 85 years old. Writer Herman Wouk is 62.

Thought for today: Goodness is the only investment that never fails — Henry David Thoreau, American writer, 1817-1862.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

When I call my doctor, even at his suggestion, I feel as if I must first pass muster with a sergeant in the Marine Corps. His nurse's attitude drives every thought out of my head and if she finally consents to let me talk to the doctor I forget much of what I wanted to ask. Worse than that, I forget what he said! Why do some nurses seem to be so belligerent with patients?

Mrs. A.J.I., Tex.

Dear Mrs. I.: It is essential that the doctor, during office hours, be protected from telephone calls as much as possible. This is understandable. But the attitude you describe has no place in the doctor-patient relationship and, in fact, can be very destructive to it.

You have a right to call the doctor. The doctor has a right to be too busy to talk to you at the moment. It is simple to set a mutually convenient time when such conversation can be unhurried and meaningful.

I recently called a colleague to report on a patient of his whom I had seen in consultation. Even though I introduced myself to the nurse as "Doctor" her supercilious attitude prompted her to say, "The doctor is busy. Can I help you?" I deliberately said, "You certainly can. Would you be good enough to tell me if there is any coronary or pulmonary contraindication to the surgery of the larynx that I intend to do for your

Of course, she was speechless, then quickly suggested she'd better have the doctor answer that himself... which is exactly what she should have done in the first place.

Even in this case, the doctor might well have been busy, but the nurse would have served the doctor and the caller better had she said, "I'm so sorry, the doctor is unable to come to the phone now. Can I have him call you back?"

With such courtesy, the relationship between doctors and patients (and even colleagues) is solidified. The inflection of the voice actually becomes as important as the words themselves. Patients, tense and anxious about physical symptoms, need gentleness, reassurance and kindness from receptionists and nurses.

Every person in contact with the patient makes a definite imprint on the harmonious affinity with the doctor. Warm understanding, even under the duress of frenetic office and hospital activity, is the right of every patient.

I wonder if your doctor knows about his nurses' attitude. If he does not, you would be doing him an enormous service by calling this to his attention. For he, too, is the beneficiary of the civility that should be directed to all his patients.

Family Starts Own Flea Market Stand

CINCINNATI (AP)—After spending many Sundays at flea markets, the Ingram family decided they had enough junk of their own to compete for sales.

Perry Ingram also figures it will give him something to pass the time after he retires next year from his job as a bartender.

"We've never thrown a thing away in the 35 years we've been married," explained Jan Ingram. "When I saw what other folks were selling, I figured we could do it too."

The Ingrams rummaged through their attic, garage and basement in suburban Cheviot, discovering more than enough odds and ends to get them started. Now friends call the Ingrams before they call the junkman.

Though some dealers at the antique market sell strictly old furniture or glass, the Ingrams sell just about anything that's old or unusual.

"It's amazing the things some people will buy. I can't image what they do with the stuff. But as they say, your trash is somebody else's treasure," Mrs. Ingram said.

The Ingrams rented a booth for the first time Sunday at the Boone County Fairgrounds for the twice-monthly flea market. They got hooked on the business by accident four years ago when they visited the market at Burlington, Ky. and others on the Ohio side of the Ohio River. They've been frequenting the Boone County, Ky. fairs, conducted one Sunday each month during the summer, for two years.

Ingram was particularly pleased Sunday to have sold an old copper diving helmet he picked up three or four years ago.

"I thought we'd be carting that around for another ten years," he said. "I was thinking about turning it into a lamp or a fish bowl but it was the first thing we sold."

Ingram was asking $50. He got $30.

"I've never been one to sit around. When I retire, I'll have something to do. We do pretty good now. As long as we make expenses, that's all we care about," Ingram said.

Mrs. Ingram collects some antiques that she's had difficulty parting with.

"I fell in love with this coffee grinder. I didn't want to sell it so I marked up the price. Hoping no one would buy it. Instead, a man offered me what I was asking. I had no other choice. I sold it, but I cried later," she said.

Coal Leader Sees Fall Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The chairman of Consolidation Coal Co., the nation's second largest producer, says a nationwide coal strike is likely this fall.

Ralph E. Bailey told Pittsburgh newsmen Monday that the industry will demand an enforceable contract in upcoming negotiations to insure stable production. He said that means there must be curbs on wildcat strikes.

Bailey noted that United Mine Workers officials say a limited right to strike individual mines with majority approval by local members is the only way to end such walkouts.

He said such local strike powers will be resisted by the industry, however.

The industry's contract with the UMW expires Dec. 6.

Argentine Fleet Adds Transporter

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine merchant fleet has acquired its first specially constructed chemical transporter, "Postrunner," from Great Britain. Built by Norwegian shipyards in 1961, the vessel has 42 stainless steel tanks covered with plastic resin and 18 pumps for unloading the chemical cargo. The "Postrunner" has been incorporated into the Argentine chemical products transport fleet.

Shower Honors Miss Connell

Miss Penny Connell was honored May 11 with a bridal shower given in the home of her aunt Mrs. Ben Temple. The cake and gift tables were decorated in a white and gold color scheme.

Games were played and prizes won by Joyce Connell, Kathy Henn, Helen Badger, and Cheri Roan who presented their prizes to the honored guest.

Special Check For Utility Bill

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — James McBride's memories of last winter's fuel bills will be etched in his mind for some time.

But they'll be etched even longer in a check he used Monday to pay off a $106.46 fuel bill.

The check is made of granite. McBride, 43-year-old owner of Seaboard Memorials, said the document — a 12-inch cemetery marker — represents a protest payment to Gunter Oil Co.

McBride, who said he has been a customer of the company more than 20 years, said the firm let him run out of fuel twice in freezing weather, blaming it on the computer on one occasion.

Although McBride said he was on the firm's automatic delivery plan, a Gunter spokesman denied it Monday.

McBride said he ran out of fuel Dec. 23 and again Jan. 24, at which time he switched suppliers and withheld payments on his December delivery because "I thought I had been through enough aggravation and it was time they got the same ..."

Mrs. Joe Adkins Is Monday Club Speaker

The final meeting of the year for the Monday Club was held at the Pickaway County Historical Society's meeting room.

Outgoing president, Mrs. E. Miller Hundley, opened the meeting with a quote from one of Gwen Frostic's books.

Mrs. Joseph Adkins presented her paper for the evening on "Leaders in the Performing Arts," dealing specifically with women in all phases of the performing arts.

Mrs. Adkins commented in the 19th Century only a few women dared to compose and found it necessary to veil their identity, in recent years conservatories are training women composers.

Not only are women composing major works today but there are two leading figures who are conducting music in its larger forms. They are Dr. Antonio Brico and Sarah Caldwell. Miss Brico — born in the Netherlands, was brought to America as a child and graduated from the University at Berkeley. Determined to become a conductor, she was the first American student accepted at the Master School of Conducting in Berlin. Unfortunately, her rise to fame was slow.

The well known American conductor, Sarah Caldwell, is often called the "First Lady of American Opera". One of her greatest achievements is the establishment of the Opera Company of Boston — which she built up to a formidable reputation in only a few years.

Today the old barriers between women and men pianists at last are collapsing, in some part due to the expert artistry and talent of such virtuoso performers.

The art of drama is concerned with expressing the most profound thoughts and feelings so that the audience may partake in the event. A reason for believing in the survival of the theater is that live theater can achieve a sense of occasion impossible for canned events.

Although the oldest of the performing arts is the dance, the artistic, structured form of dance we call ballet is not very old. Two recognized categories are the classic and modern ballets. The two outstanding ballerinas are Anna Pavlova and Margot Fonteyn.

Two young women in classical ballet who should be watched today are: Cynthia Gregory and Gelsey Kirkland. A third leader in ballet is Natalia Makarove, who is one of the many fine Russian dancers who have defected from Russia. The senior star and greatest exponent of American modern dance is Martha Graham, who with her artistry, both as a dancer and choreographer, has been recognized not only in America but in Asia and Europe as well.

Of all the performing arts the one fastest growing in the United States today is opera and it is gratifying to note that America is fast approaching the day when opera careers can be built on experience in the United States — unlike previous times when young people served an apprenticeship in European music centers in order to gain recognition.

Miss Cupp Is Honored With Bridal Shower

Miss Tammie Cupp, bride-elect of David Boyer was the guest of honor for a May 20 shower in the home of Carolyn Cupp.

Prizes were won by Bonnie Fullen, Barbara Boyer, Tam Baden and Virginia Cupp.

Home Extension Club Meets

Wonder Women Home Extension Club held their meeting 7:30 p.m., May 17 in the home of Mrs. Cindy McCoy, Williamsport with ten members present.

Four members are planning to attend the county field trip to Berea, Kentucky. Members will have lunch at the Boone Tavern.

A picnic for members and their families is being planned for July 19 at Deer Creek State Park.

The discussion for the meeting was presented by Mrs. Karla Barnes using as her topic "Minitrips."

Mrs. Karen Dean will be hostess for the June 21 meeting at her home in Williamsport.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Steely

A bridal shower was held May 12 in honor of Miss Rita Steely.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Tina Scott and Mrs. Becky Woodard.

Prizes were won by Jeri Pennington and Carol Krebs, and the door prize was won by Mrs. Karen Steely.

The gift table was decorated with a sprinkling can and streamers of blue and yellow.

Miss Dorsey, Mr. Benner Will Marry

Announcement is being made of the approaching marriage of Miss Lynn Dorsey to Mr. Gary Benner.

Miss Dorsey is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Dorsey, Ironton, Mr. Benner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora P. Benner, Circleville.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bacon High School, Alma Georgia, she attended Circleville Bible College and Nazarene College, Mt. Vernon. She is currently employed by General Telephone Company.

Mr. Benner is a graduate of Logan Elm High School, and is currently a student at Circleville Bible College.

The open church wedding will be an event of 2 p.m., May 28, at the Campus Church of Christ and Christian Union.

Shower Honors Miss Connell

Miss Penny Connell was honored May 11 with a bridal shower given in the home of her aunt Mrs. Ben Temple.

The cake and gift tables were decorated in a white and gold color scheme.

Games were played and prizes won by Joyce Connell, Kathy Henn, Helen Badger, and Cheri Roan who presented their prizes to the honored guest.

Special Check For Utility Bill

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — James McBride's memories of last winter's fuel bills will be etched in his mind for some time.

But they'll be etched even longer in a check he used Monday to pay off a $106.46 fuel bill.

The check is made of granite. McBride, 43-year-old owner of Seaboard Memorials, said the document — a 12-inch cemetery marker — represents a protest payment to Gunter Oil Co.

McBride, who said he has been a customer of the company more than 20 years, said the firm let him run out of fuel twice in freezing weather, blaming it on the computer on one occasion.

Although McBride said he was on the firm's automatic delivery plan, a Gunter spokesman denied it Monday.

McBride said he ran out of fuel Dec. 23 and again Jan. 24, at which time he switched suppliers and withheld payments on his December delivery because "I thought I had been through enough aggravation and it was time they got the same ..."

Mrs. Joe Adkins Is Monday Club Speaker

The final meeting of the year for the Monday Club was held at the Pickaway County Historical Society's meeting room.

Outgoing president, Mrs. E. Miller Hundley, opened the meeting with a quote from one of Gwen Frostic's books.

Mrs. Joseph Adkins presented her paper for the evening on "Leaders in the Performing Arts," dealing specifically with women in all phases of the performing arts.

Mrs. Adkins commented in the 19th Century only a few women dared to compose and found it necessary to veil their identity, in recent years conservatories are training women composers.

Not only are women composing major works today but there are two leading figures who are conducting music in its larger forms. They are Dr. Antonio Brico and Sarah Caldwell. Miss Brico — born in the Netherlands, was brought to America as a child and graduated from the University at Berkeley. Determined to become a conductor, she was the first American student accepted at the Master School of Conducting in Berlin. Unfortunately, her rise to fame was slow.

The well known American conductor, Sarah Caldwell, is often called the "First Lady of American Opera". One of her greatest achievements is the establishment of the Opera Company of Boston — which she built up to a formidable reputation in only a few years.

Today the old barriers between women and men pianists at last are collapsing, in some part due to the expert artistry and talent of such virtuoso performers.

The art of drama is concerned with expressing the most profound thoughts and feelings so that the audience may partake in the event. A reason for believing in the survival of the theater is that live theater can achieve a sense of occasion impossible for canned events.

Calendar

WEDNESDAY

Berger Hospital Guild 29, 8 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Robert Farmer, 27710 Caldwell Road.

Gardenwood Garden Club, 6:30 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Charles Brackett, 609 Garden Parkway.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

State Auditor Releases School Payments

The May State School Foundation Subsidy payment of $78,236,369.89 to Ohio's 613 city, exempted village and local school districts and 87 county boards of education, was reported today by State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

He additionally reported $2,664,232.54 was distributed to 44 joint vocational school districts representing their May allotment. The 87 county boards of education received $2,581,092.20 for the month.

The State Teachers' Retirement System will receive $17,774,167.31 and the School Employees' Retirement System will receive $4,356,170 as the employers' share of the pension program for May, Ferguson added.

The 184 city school districts divided $29,369,667.76 while the 380 local school districts split $21,470,625.63. The 49 exempted village school districts shared $2,684,646.99 of the disbursement, Ferguson said.

State School Foundation Subsidy payments are sent to the 88 county auditors who distribute the amounts due the districts within the respective counties.

Payments to the joint vocational school districts are sent directly to the districts' clerk-treasurers.

For Pickaway County the amount for basic and transportation allowances was $93,733.60 for Circleville, $65,470.50 for Logan Elm, $77,070.54 for Teays Valley, $9,746.77 for Westfall and the direct allotment to the county board was $20,231.06.

Total payments in the county were $306,252.47 for basic and transportation allowances, less $2,888 for school employees retirement, less $64,241.86 for state teachers retirement, making the net payment to the school districts, $208,891.55.

The Stuffer's Club met Sunday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Linton, Circleville, Rt. 2. Members present were Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Davis, Mr. Gary Davis, Miss Carla Hohenstein, Mr. and Mrs. Loring E. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian McVey and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Montgomery of the Kingston area, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heinzelman, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rudell, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hilshimer and Gary Vandermark. State Saves Cash On Rhodes Housing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state has saved an estimated $132,223 in operating costs for the governors' mansion since Gov. James A. Rhodes took office, budget director William W. Wilkins said Monday.

Rhodes lives in the house he bought after leaving office in 1971, refusing to live in the mansion provided for the state's chief executive.

Wilkins based his estimate on cost comparisons between the last full fiscal year former Gov. John J. Gilligan lived in the mansion and the time Rhodes has been in office this term.

Wilkins said the state spends about $20,000 a year for a maintenance staff at the mansion which is now used for private and charitable groups.

Walnut School Holds May Day Festival

The Walnut Elementary gymnasium was the setting for a May Day Festival with students from grades four, five and six participating. Classes from grades one, two and three along with their teachers, parents and friends shared in the activities.

The songs and games were under the direction of the music teacher, Elizabeth Dunkel. Mrs. Caroline Lutz, a fifth grade teacher, was the piano accompanist.

The program included: "It's May, It's May!" a recording by Julie Andrews from "Camelot."

Songs included: "Now Is the Month of Maying", "White Coral Bells", a group of spirituals about Noah and the Ark with Lisa Dixon reading "Didn't It Rain."

A special girls choir was featured in "Open the Window Noah" and in "Do Re Me" from the "Sound of Music" featuring Michelle Jones. A special boys choir was featured in another spiritual, "Don't Stay Away" and in a sea chantey, "Away Rio". The entire group sang the invitation for the games to begin with an English Morris tune, "Come Lasses, Lads."

An Hawaiian hula interpretation by Kim Craig, Lori Lahmer, Cheryl Willis and Kim Reynolds, all of grade six, was presented.

The fourth grade gave an American play party game, "Down the Ohio", and a German Circle Dance, "Come Let Us Be Joyful."

The fifth grade presented an American Flag Drill to The Battle Hymn of the Republic. Kevin Agin and Beth Trimmer were captains.

The sixth grade gave a pre Maypole dance to "Greensleeves and the Maypole Dance" and "Country Gardens."

The program concluded with all singing the old English May Day Carol.

The Walnut Elementary gymnasium was the setting for a May Day Festival with students from grades four, five and six participating. Classes from grades one, two and three along with their teachers, parents and friends shared in the activities.

The songs and games were under the direction of the music teacher, Elizabeth Dunkel. Mrs. Caroline Lutz, a fifth grade teacher, was the piano accompanist.

The program included: "It's May, It's May!" a recording by Julie Andrews from "Camelot."

Songs included: "Now Is the Month of Maying", "White Coral Bells", a group of spirituals about Noah and the Ark with Lisa Dixon reading "Didn't It Rain."

A special girls choir was featured in "Open the Window Noah" and in "Do Re Me" from the "Sound of Music" featuring Michelle Jones. A special boys choir was featured in another spiritual, "Don't Stay Away" and in a sea chantey, "Away Rio". The entire group sang the invitation for the games to begin with an English Morris tune, "Come Lasses, Lads."

An Hawaiian hula interpretation by Kim Craig, Lori Lahmer, Cheryl Willis and Kim Reynolds, all of grade six, was presented.

The fourth grade gave an American play party game, "Down the Ohio", and a German Circle Dance, "Come Let Us Be Joyful."

The fifth grade presented an American Flag Drill to The Battle Hymn of the Republic. Kevin Agin and Beth Trimmer were captains.

The sixth grade gave a pre Maypole dance to "Greensleeves and the Maypole Dance" and "Country Gardens."

The program concluded with all singing the old English May Day Carol.

State Parks To Open Swim Beaches

Columbus, Ohio's state parks with lakes will open their beaches for swimming Memorial Day weekend, according to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' Division of Parks and Recreation.

Beginning Saturday, swimmers may use the beaches at Ohio's 43 state parks with lakes from 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on weekends and holidays, and from 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Beach facilities are available to the public without charge.

Lifeguards will be on duty from the Memorial Day weekend through the Labor Day weekend.

There are beaches at Barkcamp, Blue Rock, Buck Creek, Buckeye Lake, Burr Oak, Cowan Lake, Crane Creek, Deer Creek, Delaware, Dillon, East Harbor, Findley, Forked Run, Geneva, Grand Lake-St. Marys, Guilford Lake, Harrison Lake, Headlands Beach, Hueston Woods, Indian Lake, Jefferson Lake, Kelleys Island, Kiser Lake, Lake Alma, Lake Hope, Lake Logan, Lake Laramie, Lake White, Madison Lake, Mosquito Creek, Pike Lake, Portage Lakes, Punderson, Pymatuning, Rocky Fork, Salt Fork, Shawnee, Stonelick, Strouds Run, Tar Hollow, Tinkers Creek, West Branch and Wolf Run state parks.

The parks and Recreation Division's outdoor swimming pools at Hocking Hills State Park, located at the dining lodge and at John Bryan State Park, located off the main park road, will also open to the public Saturday, May 28. The pools operate on the same schedule as the state park beaches and may be used for a nominal fee.

For a complete listing of all the activities available at Ohio's 64 state parks, write for a free brochure to the Publications Center, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, 43224.

Farmers Get Crops In Ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are still making rapid strides in planting this year's corn and soybean crops, according to the Agriculture Department.

By May 22, the department said in a weekly weather review Tuesday, 93 per cent of the corn acreage was planted, compared with last year's speedy pace of 91 per cent and the average rate of 75 per cent by that date.

Clear weather helped farmers seed 30 per cent of the 1977 soybean crop in one week. By May 22, 62 per cent of the crop was planted, compared with 50 per cent a year ago and the average of 34 per cent by that date, officials said.

Cotton farmers had 74 per cent of their crop in the ground by May 22, slightly behind last year's pace of 77 per cent but about on target with the average, the report said.

The nation's winter wheat crop was rated "good" on May 22 and continued to improve in major areas of the Great Plains because of additional rain.

"Kansas rains promoted excellent wheat growth," the report said. "The crop was 85 per cent headed, but was not yet turning color (ripening)."

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Richard Hargis is still holding the bag and the 34,412 pennies.

Hargis, a Dayton hairdresser, attempted to pay his $344.12 Dayton Power & Light Co. utility bill with pennies Monday, but he was turned away at the main office.

"I'm pretty darn angry about it," Hargis said. "Money is money, and where does it say in the United States Constitution that you can't pay your bills with coins?"

He said he wanted to give the utility "a hard time" with the loose pennies because "I am protesting rising costs, and on several occasions they have not billed me correctly."

A DP&L spokesman said the company will not accept more than $10 in loose change because it would take "too many man hours" to count.

Hargis says since he made the effort, he considers his bill paid. He added that he'll go to court if the company turns off his power for nonpayment.

Lack Of Rainfall Worrying Farmers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation gives Ohio farmers and gardeners about one more week before the current lack of rainfall becomes a serious threat to their crops.

"It's been ideal weather to get the crops planted," said C. William Swank, "but there's got to be some moisture to germinate the seed. I've estimated that we have another seven days, probably, before we get into a rather critical situation. We're running out of those very important days we need for a bumper crop."

The Ohio Crop Reporting Service agreed with Swank that the small amount of rain this month is beginning to be noticed.

"Showers occurred during the week but they were widely scattered," the service said. "The high temperatures and fast growing crops are rapidly using up ground moisture. Crops have deteriorated somewhat (but) are still considered in very good condition."

On the brighter side, the reporting service noted that farmers have been able to work almost every day in the field.

The Agriculture Weather Center in West Lafayette, Ind., said the warm, dry weather has been good for cutting and curing hay, but has not helped farmers who applied herbicides which require rain to incorporate in the soil.

"Deeper seeded weeds have been able to germinate and will now require additional weed control measures," the center said, adding, "Cultivation for weed control will increase moisture loss, so cultivation is recommended only where weeds are a problem."

The lack of surface moisture is not yet a problem for emerged plants, the center said, but new seedlings will find germination more difficult.

Swank said the northwestern part of the state has the most serious problem now, largely because of the reliance of the tomato crop there on moisture. "The rest of the state is just finishing up planting and hoping for rain in the near future."

The extended weather outlook through the weekend offers little consolation. Except for some possible scattered showers and thundershowers, no widespread rain is indicated before Sunday.

Highway Patrol Levy Increasing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The employe contribution to the Ohio Highway Patrol Retirement System would be increased from 7 to 8 per cent under a bill approved 88-0 by the House and sent to the Senate.

The increase would help pay for expanded survivors benefits.

Sponsored by Rep. James L. Baumann, D-32 Tuesday, the bill lifts the five-year limit for reemployment by the patrol to qualify for restoration of service credit for retirement benefits.

State Parks To Open Swim Beaches

Columbus, Ohio's state parks with lakes will open their beaches for swimming Memorial Day weekend, according to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' Division of Parks and Recreation.

Beginning Saturday, swimmers may use the beaches at Ohio's 43 state parks with lakes from 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on weekends and holidays, and from 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Beach facilities are available to the public without charge.

Lifeguards will be on duty from the Memorial Day weekend through the Labor Day weekend.

There are beaches at Barkcamp, Blue Rock, Buck Creek, Buckeye Lake, Burr Oak, Cowan Lake, Crane Creek, Deer Creek, Delaware, Dillon, East Harbor, Findley, Forked Run, Geneva, Grand Lake-St. Marys, Guilford Lake, Harrison Lake, Headlands Beach, Hueston Woods, Indian Lake, Jefferson Lake, Kelleys Island, Kiser Lake, Lake Alma, Lake Hope, Lake Logan, Lake Loramie, Lake White, Madison Lake, Mosquito Creek, Pike Lake, Portage Lakes, Punderson, Pymatuning, Rocky Fork, Salt Fork, Shawnee, Stonelick, Strouds Run, Tar Hollow, Tinkers Creek, West Branch and Wolf Run state parks.

The parks and Recreation Division's outdoor swimming pools at Hocking Hills State Park, located at the dining lodge and at John Bryan State Park, located off the main park road, will also open to the public Saturday, May 28. The pools operate on the same schedule as the state park beaches and may be used for a nominal fee.

For a complete listing of all the activities available at Ohio's 64 state parks, write for a free brochure to the Publications Center, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, 43224.

Farmers Get Crops In Ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are still making rapid strides in planting this year's corn and soybean crops, according to the Agriculture Department.

By May 22, the department said in a weekly weather review Tuesday, 93 per cent of the corn acreage was planted, compared with last year's speedy pace of 91 per cent and the average rate of 75 per cent by that date.

Clear weather helped farmers seed 30 per cent of the 1977 soybean crop in one week. By May 22, 62 per cent of the crop was planted, compared with 50 per cent a year ago and the average of 34 per cent by that date, officials said.

Cotton farmers had 74 per cent of their crop in the ground by May 22, slightly behind last year's pace of 77 per cent but about on target with the average, the report said.

The nation's winter wheat crop was rated "good" on May 22 and continued to improve in major areas of the Great Plains because of additional rain.

"Kansas rains promoted excellent wheat growth," the report said. "The crop was 85 per cent headed, but was not yet turning color (ripening)."

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Richard Hargis is still holding the bag and the 34,412 pennies.

Hargis, a Dayton hairdresser, attempted to pay his $34.12 Dayton Power & Light Co. utility bill with pennies Monday, but he was turned away at the main office.

"I'm pretty darn angry about it," Hargis said. "Money is money, and where does it say in the United States Constitution that you can't pay your bills with coins?"

He said he wanted to give the utility "a hard time" with the loose pennies because "I am protesting rising costs, and on several occasions they have not billed me correctly."

A DP&L spokesman said the company will not accept more than $10 in loose change because it would take "too many man hours" to count.

Hargis says since he made the effort, he considers his bill paid. He added that he'll go to court if the company turns off his power for nonpayment.

Lack Of Rainfall Worrying Farmers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation gives Ohio farmers and gardeners about one more week before the current lack of rainfall becomes a serious threat to their crops.

"It's been ideal weather to get the crops planted," said C. William Swank, "but there's got to be some moisture to germinate the seed. I've estimated that we have another seven days, probably, before we get into a rather critical situation. We're running out of those very important days we need for a bumper crop."

The Ohio Crop Reporting Service agreed with Swank that the small amount of rain this month is beginning to be noticed.

"Showers occurred during the week but they were widely scattered," the service said. "The high temperatures and fast growing crops are rapidly using up ground moisture. Crops have deteriorated somewhat (but) are still considered in very good condition."

On the brighter side, the reporting service noted that farmers have been able to work almost every day in the field.

The Agriculture Weather Center in West Lafayette, Ind., said the warm, dry weather has been good for cutting and curing hay, but has not helped farmers who applied herbicides which require rain to incorporate in the soil.

"Deeper seeded weeds have been able to germinate and will now require additional weed control measures," the center said, adding, "Cultivation for weed control will increase moisture loss, so cultivation is recommended only where weeds are a problem."

The lack of surface moisture is not yet a problem for emerged plants, the center said, but new seedlings will find germination more difficult.

Swank said the northwestern part of the state has the most serious problem now, largely because of the reliance of the tomato crop there on moisture. "The rest of the state is just finishing up planting and hoping for rain in the near future."

The extended weather outlook through the weekend offers little consolation. Except for some possible scattered showers and thundershowers, no widespread rain is indicated before Sunday.

Highway Patrol Levy Increasing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The employee contribution to the Ohio Highway Patrol Retirement System would be increased from 7 to 8 per cent under a bill approved 88-0 by the House and sent to the Senate.

The increase would help pay for expanded survivors benefits. Sponsored by Rep. James L. Baumann, D-32 Tuesday, the bill lifts the five-year limit for reemployment by the patrol to qualify for restoration of service credit for retirement benefits.

Pilot Light Symbol Of U.S. Energy Waste

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The pilot light will be one of the first victims of President Carter's energy program for the Weaning of America.

The unblinking little jets of flame are on millions of natural gas kitchen ranges and heaters across the nation. It is staggering to think how much gas they have burned over the past 50 years.

Those innocent little lights burn 20 to 30 per cent of the gas consumed by the average kitchen range, in return for relieving the cook of the drudgery of striking a match.

Now matches are cheaper, or an electric spark.

But the pilot light remains a symbol of the carelessly sinful "energy hog" years that led to the complications — political and technical — which now confront us.

When the pilot light was born, natural gas was the cheapest, cleanest fuel in the world. It sold for only a few pennies per thousand cubic feet. It was considered so worthless oil men tore their hair when drillers hit gas instead of crude.

Drillers often simply set fire to gas whistling up the hole and moved on to drill elsewhere, leaving behind a pillar of flame. Sometimes it burned for years. Oil men called them flares.

"At night, you could almost cross south Louisiana under near daylight from the light of those flares," recalled former Gov. Sam Jones of Lake Charles.

Some flaring still exists. In oil-rich Saudi Arabia, an estimated eight billion cubic feet a year has been going up in flames but the government is trying to get a better grip on things.

A man before his time, Jones lost a 1940s political fight to conserve Louisiana's gas resources. In those days an industry could swing a long-term contract for gas at about six cents per 1,000 cubic feet, a unit of measure known in the business as an mcf.

Nobody buys gas for a few pennies any more.

The Department of Labor says that, after a series of price rises over a six month span, gas cost the average householder about $2.15 per mcf as of last March.

The Federal Power Commission — FPC — let the price at the wellhead, where gas goes into a pipeline, move up from 52 cents per mcf to $1.42 last October. It is now up to $1.45.

That's for interstate gas, which is under FPC control. Uncontrolled intrastate gas sells for up to $2.25 an mcf.

Energy Administration has directed 32 power plants to switch to coal; 31 others have been advised they, too, are on the list.

Other big industries expect such notices soon.

Worriers among gas executives wonder if they won't wind up with a million miles of underground pipeline and distribution mains without enough customers.

Their counterattack: shortages are due to price control. Free prices on a free market would bring gas a plenty.

But President Carter's chief energy adviser, James R. Schlesinger, said recently that some gas producers privately say they will make a lot of money under the administration's new pricing plan. He said that representatives of unnamed companies favored a cap of prices rather than deregulation to save them the embarrassment of a sharp run-up in prices.

But David H. Foster, vice president of the Natural Gas Supply Committee, took issue with Schlesinger's statements and said that natural gas prices must be deregulated to give the industry an incentive to discover and produce more gas.

What are the chances of Carter's plan passing Congress? Its fate seems linked with Carter legislation on oil prices, probably the second most controversial part of the Carter package after his gasoline tax.

Opposition comes mainly from the congressmen from the oil and gas-producing states. They don't like the plan's reliance on continued controls. They and the Republican minority are expected to launch a major assault on both pieces of legislation.

In the end it seems certain that Congress will allow some price rises on both oil and natural gas, with the Democratic leadership vowing to fight hard for the Carter approach.

How much gas is there in United States fields? There is dispute between blue sky optimists and hardnoses.

Lawrence is among the optimists. Processes for converting coal into gas are being perfected, he said.

He also estimated there is "between 800 and 1,200 trillion cubic feet of recoverable gas underground. This guarantees between 40 and 60 years of additional supply from domestic sources alone."

Furthermore, said Lawrence, 1,200 trillion cubic feet of gas lurks in coal mine seams, 2,000 trillion feet in tight rock mountain formations, and up to 100,000 trillion cubic feet is dissolved in a hot salt water strata found in geopressure zones 15,000 feet down, mainly across Louisiana and Texas.

"Research is going to get that gas," he said.

It is a splendid outlook but E. A. Rassinier of Houston, chairman of the authoritative Potential Gas Committee, doesn't believe it.

"Such possibilities are zilch," he said.

The committee's latest survey logged 215 trillion cubic feet of proved U.S. gas reserves.

When gas is consumed at 19.5 trillion cubic feet a year, last year's U.S. production, that's not a fat margin.

The committee said an additional 363 trillion cubic feet may be developed by expanding exploration, and a speculative 355 trillion cubic feet may lie in such areas as the Atlantic offshore areas, or in deep stratas beneath existing gas fields.

Rassinier said a better bet than coal mine seams or hot salt water stratas is further development of the St. Louis idea, where a foul mixture of sewage, old crankcase oil, low grade coal and other waste ferments into hot gases that wind up driving turbines which generate electric power.

"That's got a double whammy," he said. "It also gives the benefit of cleaning up things."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Start Adding Up Husband's Assets

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I married an older man after waiting for three years for him to get a divorce. He settled out of court, including a beautiful home and all the furnishings. He says he wants her to have the house for his children's sake. (They have three teenagers.) Last summer he invited his three children to spend two weeks with us in our small apartment, but they liked it so much they stayed a month! Now he wants to do it again this year. I would leave tomorrow, but I have a 7-month-old baby and another one on the way. He treats me well, and I'm not exactly starving to death, but it bugs me the way his ex-wife and three children always come first. Should I get out while I'm still young and have my looks, since talking to him does no good? Or should I be quiet because he also provides me with a good home?

NEEDS HELP
DEAR NEEDS: Nowhere have you mentioned that you love him. It appears that you are concerned mainly with money, material things and getting the short end of the deal. Only you can decide whether you're getting more out of this marriage than you're putting in to it. But I suggest that you do some adding and subtracting before you do any more multiplying.

DEAR ABBY: Would you say it was proper to "neck" (or whatever you want to call it) with your ex-husband? And how about going beyond that point?

He still turns me on.

LYNNE
DEAR LYNNE: It is just as proper to "neck" (if that's what you mean, that's what I'll call it) with an ex-husband as it is to neck with any other single man. However, past relationships confer no special privileges.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, one of your correspondents stated that she had signed a contract under pressure from a door-to-door salesperson. She said she couldn't afford the monthly payments, didn't really need the product and was afraid to tell her husband about it. You advised her to call the company immediately, explain the circumstances and ask them to please cancel the contract. Abby, in most states there is a "cooling-off period" between three to five days, which gives the consumer the right to back out of such contracts. B.L.K.

DEAR B.L.K.: It is my understanding that in most states if the consumer sends a registered letter to the company within three days after signing such a contract, his request to cancel the contract will be honored. Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A. Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Start Adding Up Husband's Assets

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I married an older man after waiting for three years for him to get a divorce. He settled out of court, including a beautiful home and all the furnishings. He says he wants her to have the house for his children's sake. (They have three teenagers.)

Last summer he invited his three children to spend two weeks with us in our small apartment, but they liked it so much they stayed a month! Now he wants to do it again this year.

I would leave tomorrow, but I have a 7-month-old baby and another one on the way.

He treats me well, and I'm not exactly starving to death, but it bugs me the way his ex-wife and three children always come first.

Should I get out while I'm still young and have my looks, since talking to him does no good? Or should I be quiet because he also provides me with a good home?

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Nowhere have you mentioned that you love him. It appears that you are concerned mainly with money, material things and getting the short end of the deal. Only you can decide whether you're getting more out of this marriage than you're putting in to it. But I suggest that you do some adding and subtracting before you do any more multiplying.

DEAR ABBY: Would you say it was proper to "neck" (or whatever you want to call it) with your ex-husband? And how about going beyond that point?

He still turns me on.

LYNNE

DEAR LYNNE: It is just as proper to "neck" (if that's what you mean, that's what I'll call it) with an ex-husband as it is to neck with any other single man. However, past relationships confer no special privileges.

BOWLING WINNERS — Students from Brooks-Yates School were honored Tuesday for the completion of another bowling season sponsored by the Circleville Junior Women. Winners are, from the left, Butch Adams as most improved bowler. Butch improved his average by 59 pins. Next are the four team members of the "Tigers", highest scoring team in the school. They are Carol Rubadue, Terry Williams, Sally Strawser and Jack Ball. Jack also received a trophy for highest scorer for a single game, 161 pins. All Brooks-Yates students were handed Certificates of Achievements by Nellie Gibson, chairman of the bowling tournament. Her co-chairman was Paula Kingsley. The students were treated to snacks Tuesday at the Trinity Lutheran Church by Junior Women.

Demos Pleased With Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majority Democrats obviously are pleased that their legislative program is on schedule and think they can adjourn the 1977 session July 29, for all practical purposes.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston said "we may come back for two or three days in September, but by the time August gets here, most of the work should be done."

The speaker obviously is contemplating the possibility of vetoes by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes after the July 29 date. Nearly always, the legislature approves a big batch of bills in a last minute frenzy known as "horse trading days."

Returning in September would give veto-proof Democratic majorities a chance to act on vetoes, and clean up any other remaining business.

Problems yet uncovered could affect the speaker's timetable, but it appears that the state budget bill, along with some supplemental spending measures in the "must" category, are proceeding as planned.

The major $11.6 billion appropriations bill has been passed by the House and is pending in the Senate where hearings are well along. Also in the Senate are separate measures containing budget bill "intent" language, and the legislative blueprint for distribution of state school subsidies.

Plans call for the Senate to exchange those latter two measures with the House for a pair of other spending bills—a capital improvements outlay totaling about $406 million in new money and a transportation-highway safety bill that runs about $1 billion.

Otherwise, hearings are under way in the Senate on a Democratic priority bill establishing collective bargaining for public employees. It is similar to a measure approved by both chambers in 1975 but vetoed by Rhodes.

Approved by one house and awaiting action in the other are constitutional amendments allowing the legislature to issue capital improvement bonds tied to existing revenues—without requiring a vote of the people—and setting up a program to subsidize housing projects for low and moderate income families.

Bill Limits Benefits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vietnam veterans would be prohibited from receiving an Ohio bonus if classified as deserters, under a bill introduced in the House on Tuesday.

It was among 10 new measures offered in the lower chamber, bringing its total for the session to 691. Senators introduced no new proposals. Their total remained at 279.

Rep. Gene Damsroder, R-85 Fremont, proposed in the bonus bill to require applicants to swear, under the penalty of perjury, that they are not classed as deserters. Without such an oath, no cash or educational grant would be allowed.

In another measure, Rep. Phale Hale, D-31 Columbus, would prohibit the state or its subdivisions from refusing to employ on the basis of an applicant's felony record.

His bill, at the same time, says public employers may consider the nature of the crime, the amount of rehabilitation the offender has received, and the lapse of time since it was committed, in deciding whether to hire.

Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-21 Cincinnati, called in another measure for hiking liability insurance coverage required for amusement ride operators from $100,000 to $1 million.

The Cincinnati lawmaker also introduced a bill that would permit members of the legislature to inspect records of recipients of welfare, upon request.

Riffe hopes a House committee soon will put together an omnibus bill that seeks to deal with Ohio's energy problems. He favors a new department of energy and environment to pull together efforts of several agencies now seeking to deal on a piecemeal

RUSSELL HARLESS

Airman Russell D. Harless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Harless of 18251 Wagner Road, Laurelville has been assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland AFB, Tex., the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Completion of this training earned the individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Harless will now receive specialized training in the supply field. The airman is a 1975 graduate of Logan Elm High School.

Airman Robert W. Kint, son of retired Master Sergeant and Mrs. Robert J. Kint of 7849 Old Tarlton Pike, Circleville, recently took part in "Solid Shield," an Atlantic Command joint-service exercise in North Carolina, Georgia and over Atlantic waters.

Airman Kint is a radio communications analysis specialist at Brooks AFB, Tex., with the 6948th Security Squadron which helped support the large-scale air, land and sea exercise.

The operation included simulated military action between two opposing forces with Naval, air and ground maneuvers, air control and defense exercises and an airborne evacuation.

More than 40,000 Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Reserve and National Guard personnel took part in the massive war exercise.

The airman is a 1976 graduate of Logan Elm High School.

basis with problems such as fuel shortages, fuel allocation, and air pollution.

Already approved have been Democratic bills that seek to protect homeowners from mechanic's liens against their property, set up a youth jobs program for public works projects, and last week, a major bill, deplored by Republicans, allowing election day registration of voters along with other election reforms.

Numerous other proposals from both parties will have their fate decided in the next several weeks "on their merits," Riffe insists.

Discharge Certificate Changed

According to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans service officer, the military services are halting the issuance of the undesirable discharge certificate to people being administratively separated from the armed forces.

Use of the undesirable certificate has been criticized as stigmatizing former service people, making it difficult for them to find civilian jobs, according to Shea. Instead of the undesirable certificate, a 'discharge under other than honorable conditions certificate' will be issued to persons separated administratively for misconduct, or security reasons, or who resign or request discharge for the good of the service when their conduct has made them subject to court-martial.

Any veteran of any war, with an undesirable discharge should bring the discharge or DD 214 to the office of the Veterans Service officer, 219 S. Court Street so that proper application can be made for the new discharge certificate.

One furlong is 220 yards. One league is 5,280 yards (three miles).

Tigers 6th In Fulton Relays At Lancaster

Circleville competed in the Fulton Relays at Lancaster High School Tuesday and placed sixth in the meet, won by Eastmoor, and also set three school records.

Eastmoor tallied 87 points for first followed by: Lancaster, 75; Upper Arlington, 69; Newark, 55; Worthington, 43; Circleville, 41; Grove City, 29; Whetstone, 19; Westerville South, 18; Briggs, 1; Brookhaven, 0.

Dave Phillips set a school record in the 330 low hurdles with a time of 39.2. The winning time tied the meet record of 38.5.

Don Hill, Dave Marshall and Pete Harrison teamed up to take third in the high jump with a total of 17 feet 8 1/2 inches, a school record. The winning height was 18 feet 10 3/4 inches.

But the highlight of the meet and another school record was set by the two-mile relay team who placed second with a blistering time of 8:01.9, fifth best time in the state this year. Worthington won the event with a time of 8:01.

Running for the Tigers were: Greg Berrigan, 2:01.3; Tim Milstead, 2:02.1; Tom Taylor, 2:01.0; and Frank "Choke 'Em With Your Smoke" Merrill, 1:57.5.

The team of Bryan Price, Marc

Albright and Bill Mogan placed sixth in the shot with a total of 125 feet 4 1/2 inches. Winner was Upper Arlington with 144 feet 1/2 inch. They also were fourth in the discus with 390 feet 8 inches. Lancaster was the winner with 430 feet 3 inches.

Dave Phillips, Frank Merrill and Mike Brudzinski combined for sixth place in the high jump with 43 feet 9 1/4 inches. Newark won with a total of 61 feet 3 1/2 inches.

Joe Leahy, Joel Baker, Dave Uland and Dennis Lester finished fourth in the four-mile relay with a time of 18:55.9. Whetstone won with a time of 18:19.

Merrill, Phillips and Dave Marshall were fifth in the triple jump with a total distance of 115 feet. Newark was the winner with 119 feet 11 1/4 inches.

Jeff Moorehead, Dan Stout and Jim Gates placed fourth in the pole vault with a total of 22 feet. Lancaster was the winner with 39 feet 6 inches.

Joel Baker, Dave Marshall, Joe Leahy and Dave Uland finished sixth in the distance medley with a time of 8:21.0. Newark won in 7:49.5.

Greg Berrigan, Tim Milstead, Dave Phillips and Frank Merrill placed fifth in the Mile Relay with a time of 3:32.6. Worthington won the event with 3:22.4.

Palmer, Orioles Turn Back Brewers, 2-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pat Kelly and Billy Smith are putting Jim Palmer's mind at ease — and that spells trouble for Palmer's American League foes.

"I guess I was fairly negative or I was waiting to have it proven," Palmer said after leading the Baltimore Orioles to a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Tuesday night with a 12-strikeout, seven-hit performance.

Palmer was referring to remarks he made during spring training about the Orioles' loss of Reggie Jackson, Bobby Grich and pitcher Wayne Garland, all of whom played out their options last year, then signed with other teams.

"I had my doubts. Things didn't look real good," the right-hander said. "But we had so many guys coming up, you figure a couple of them had to come through."

Kelly, who had a 19-game hitting streak — one short of the club record — snapped by Milwaukee's Jerry Augustine, 5-5, in the pitching duel, is batting .326. Jackson, who signed a multi-year, multi-million dollar contract with the New York Yankees, is struggling with a .252 average.

Smith, a second baseman, is batting .269, six points better than Grich, who signed with the California Angels.

Palmer, 6-3, posted five of his strikeouts in the final two innings, including a game-ending whiff of Milwaukee's Charlie Moore with the bases loaded.

Girls, Boys Set For Track Meets

The boys State Track and Field Meet will be held Friday and Saturday at Ohio State University Stadium while the girls District Track Meet will be held today and Thursday at Upper Arlington High School.

Local girls competing today in the semi finals will be: Teays Valley 880 Medley Relay Team (Lisa Walden, Carla Nardi, Teresa Van Pelt, Kathy Foreman), 3:30 p.m.; Circleville's Natalie Martin and Juli Schneider, 440, 5 p.m. These girls must qualify to be in the finals Thursday.

Thursday it will be: Carla Nardi, Teays Valley, long jump, 3 p.m.; Gale Warner, Teays Valley, mile, 7:20 p.m.; Natalie Martin and Juli Schneider, Circleville, 440, 8:10 p.m.; Perri Martin, Teays Valley, 880, 8:40 p.m.; Time not listed for the 880 Medley Relay Team.

Dave Phillips and Frank Merrill of Circleville are the only local athletes in the Boys State Meet.

Phillips will qualify in the semi finals Friday. He will run the 120-yard high hurdles at 1 p.m. and the 180-yard low hurdles at 3 p.m. Saturday, the 120 HH will be run at 1:30 p.m. and the 180 LH at 3:10 p.m.

Merrill does not have to qualify Friday and will compete in the 880-yard run at 3:30 p.m.

Winnipeg Jets

Rip Nordiques, 12-3

WINNIPEG (AP) — Winnipeg Coach Bobby Kromm played a hunch Tuesday night that led to the key goal in the Jets 12-3 romp over the Quebec Nordiques that forced a seventh and deciding game in the World Hockey Association final playoff series.

Kromm sent left wing Bobby Hull onto the ice alongside Bobby Guindon and Fran Huck early in the second period, and moments later Hull scored, giving Winnipeg a 5-3 margin.

The game had been close until then, but the Jets took command at that point and scored seven more goals.

Big Holiday Weekend Set At Scioto Downs

Scioto Downs kicks off the holiday weekend in major league fashion Thursday night with the 4-year-old trotting division of the Challenge Stakes, with six entries racing for a purse of $14,790.

The big weekend of racing continues Friday night and Saturday night with full ten race programs, and concludes on Memorial Day when Post Time is set for 2 p.m. The feature race Monday afternoon is the "All Ohio Pacing Derby."

Thursday night's Challenge Stakes attracted a small but powerful field of

Vikings Defeat Miami Trace In Mound Duel, 4-2

Eric Graves fired a three-hitter to pace Teays Valley to a 4-2 win over visiting Miami Trace Tuesday.

Graves was in control all the way as he bested Don Eyre in a well pitched game. Eyre was rapped for six hits.

Trace scored single runs in the top of the fourth and sixth while the Vikings plated lone runs in the first, third, fourth and fifth.

Terry Trego rapped a double and single, Duane Keller slammed two singles, Lance Roese cracked a double while Gary Van Pelt added a single.

Teays Valley will host Hartley in a doubleheader at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Longshot Bettors Win At Downs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It was a good night for longshot betters at Scioto Downs Tuesday, highlighted by a $13,163.10 payoff on a $3 bet in the trifecta. Only two tickets were sold on the winning 5-1-10 combination.

By Double Strength paid 23.60, $7.20 and $3.20 in the featured race after touring the mile in 2:02. Lenoras Dream returned $5.40 and $3.20 for second while Cotton Time paid $2.80 for show.

The 3-4 daily double combination of So Be It and Allans All was worth $110.60 and the 1-7 third race quinella paid $215.10.

A crowd of 4,663 wagered $280,409.

Light-hitting Bobby Richardson of the Yankees made 13 hits in the 1964 World Series, a record.

Tiger Reserves Down Mustangs

Circleville's reserves rolled over visiting Westfall, 16-1, Tuesday by putting together a couple of big innings.

The Tigers scored seven times in the bottom of the fourth, and four times in the third.

John Harr went all the way for the Tigers as he scattered two hits, seven walks and fanned 10.

Watson, Cooper, Kern and Weaver shared the hill for the Mustangs. They gave up a total of nine hits, 12 walks and whiffed six.

Harr aided his own cause with a triple and double, Jeff Strawser rapped a double and single, Mark Ranck cracked two singles while Brian Sealock, Jeff Meena and Pat Poorman each had a single.

Whipple and Kreeger each had a hit for Westfall.

Circleville ended the season with a record of 7-6.

Tigers 6th In Fulton Relays At Lancaster

Circleville competed in the Fulton Relays at Lancaster High School Tuesday and placed sixth in the meet, won by Eastmoor, and also set three school records.

Eastmoor tallied 87 points for first followed by: Lancaster, 75; Upper Arlington, 69; Newark, 55; Worthington, 43; Circleville, 41; Grove City, 29; Whetstone, 19; Westerville South, 18; Briggs, 1; Brookhaven, 0.

Dave Phillips set a school record in the 330 low hurdles with a time of 39.2. The winning time tied the meet record of 38.5.

Don Hill, Dave Marshall and Pete Harrison teamed up to take third in the high jump with a total of 17 feet 8 1/2 inches, a school record. The winning height was 18 feet 10 1/2 inches.

But the highlight of the meet and another school record was set by the two-mile relay team who placed second with a blistering time of 8:01.9, fifth best time in the state this year. Worthington won the event with a time of 8:01.

Running for the Tigers were: Greg Berrigan, 2:01.3; Tim Milstead, 2:02.1; Tom Taylor, 2:01.0; and Frank "Choke" Em With Your Smoke" Merrill, 1:57.5.

The team of Bryan Price, Marc

Albright and Bill Mogan placed sixth in the shot with a total of 125 feet 4 1/2 inches. Winner was Upper Arlington with 144 feet 1/2 inch. They also were fourth in the discus with 390 feet 8 inches. Lancaster was the winner with 430 feet 3 inches.

Dave Phillips, Frank Merrill and Mike Brudzinski combined for sixth place in the high jump with 43 feet 9 1/2 inches. Newark won with a total of 61 feet 3 1/2 inches.

Joe Leahy, Joel Baker, Dave Uland and Dennis Lester finished fourth in the four-mile relay with a time of 18:55.9. Whetstone won with a time of 18:19.

Merrill, Phillips and Dave Marshall were fifth in the triple jump with a total distance of 115 feet. Newark was the winner with 119 feet 11 1/2 inches.

Jeff Moorehead, Dan Stout and Jim Gates placed fourth in the pole vault with a total of 22 feet. Lancaster was the winner with 39 feet 6 inches.

Joel Baker, Dave Marshall, Joe Leahy and Dave Uland finished sixth in the distance medley with a time of 8:21.0. Newark won in 7:49.5.

Greg Berrigan, Tim Milstead, Dave Phillips and Frank Merrill placed fifth in the Mile Relay with a time of 3:32.6. Worthington won the event with 3:22.4.

Baltimore's Ken Singleton belted a two-out, eighth-inning home run, snapping a tie forged by a solo homer by Milwaukee's Don Money in the top of the inning. The Orioles' other run came in the third on Lee May's bases-loaded sacrifice fly.

Indians 7, Mariners 5
Cleveland won its third straight game when Frank Duffy squeezed in pinch-runner Andre Thornton in the eighth inning, breaking a 5-5 tie. Duane Kuiper then singled home an insurance run.

Seattle jumped to a 5-2 lead, highlighted by Rupert Jones' homer, but the Indians tallied three times in the sixth, tying the score. They eventually gave reliever Rick Waits, 2-0, the victory.

Yankees 6, Red Sox 5
Graig Nettles and Carlos May slammed consecutive home runs, triggering a four-run rally in the seventh inning and giving New York its victory over Boston.

The loss prevented Luis Tiant, 2-4, from gaining his 100th triumph for the Red Sox.

Bucky Dent tripled in the sixth and scored on a sacrifice fly, setting up New York's game-winning rally.

Angels 2, Tigers 1
Nolan Ryan, 7-4, fired a three-hitter, striking out 12, in hurling California to its victory over Detroit. It was the 75th time the right-hander has struck out 10 or more, an AL record.

The major league record of 97 games with 10 or more strikeouts is held by Hall of Famer Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Angels scored both their runs in the second as Joe Rudi, Bobby Bonds and Ron Jackson singled and Bobby Grich hit a sacrifice fly.

Reuss, Pirates Top Mets, 5-2

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Jerry Reuss took a bath in beer and still came up smelling like a rose. "Any time you win a ball game, it's a good feeling," said the Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher.

Actually, this was only the first victory in 1977 for Reuss. So the smell of success was even sweeter.

Reuss had an 0-5 record in nine previous starts before beating the New York Mets 5-2 Tuesday night.

His teammates celebrated the occasion by dumping cups of beer on Reuss as he entered the locker room.

"It feels like champagne," said Reuss, then added: "We play 162 games. This has to come sometime."

Reuss was not especially over-powering. He needed relief help in the seventh inning after giving up the Mets' seventh hit and his second walk.

"He didn't look like the Jerry Reuss of old," said loser Jon Matlack, "but I'm glad to see him win a game. Too bad it came at my expense."

Elsewhere in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 8-5, the Montreal Expos edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4 in 13 innings, the San Diego Padres nipped the Atlanta Braves 4-3, and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Houston Astros 4-2.

The Pirates took a 1-0 lead in the second. A bloop double by Rennie Stennett brought home the first run and snapped a string of 19 scoreless innings by Matlack, who had pitched two straight shutouts.

Matlack left the game in the Pirates' three-run fourth, which included run-scoring singles by Phil Garner, Reuss and Omar Moreno. Al Oliver hit a solo homer in the fifth off reliever Bob Myrick.

Cardinals 8, Phillies 5
Hector Cruz sparked a five-run fifth inning with a two-run triple, helping Bob Forsch become the National League's first seven-game winner as St. Louis beat Philadelphia.

Forsch, raising his record to 7-1 with last-inning relief help from Al Hrabosky, allowed six hits through eight innings. Three of the Phillies' hits were by Greg Luzinski, who drove in all of their runs with a single and a pair of two-run homers.

Expos 5, Cubs 4
A pinch single by Jose Morales scored Chris Speier in the 13th inning, giving Montreal its victory over Chicago. It was the second straight triumph for the Expos, who ended an 11-game losing streak Sunday.

Padres 4, Braves 3
Doug Rader drove in three runs with a bases-loaded triple, highlighting a four-run rally in the fourth inning that carried San Diego over Atlanta.

Rick Sawyer held the Braves to no hits and one unearned run in four innings of relief in gaining the victory. Rolfe Fingers pitched the last inning for San Diego and notched his eighth save of the year.

Dodgers 4, Astros 2
Ron Cey's RBI double in the fifth produced the decisive run as Los Angeles beat Houston. Reliever Charlie Hough secured Rick Rhoden's seventh victory and gained his 12th save of the year.

Czech Defector Loves America

By FRED ROTHERBERG
AP Sports Writer

For Martina Navratilova, it's great to be young and a Yankee.

The Czech defector has taken to the American way of life as easily as one, two, three — or 15, 30, 40 as it's known in tennis circles.

"I'm Americanized. I got used to the easy way of life here. That's not really too tough to do," said the friendly Miss Navratilova, who now laughs about the time there was a toilet paper shortage in her native Czechoslovakia.

Martina also has gotten acclimated to the new concept of World Team Tennis, starring for the Boston Lobsters. She leads the league in doubles and is second in both singles and total offense this season.

Tonight the first-place Lobsters will be in Cleveland to meet Martina's old team, the Nets. But wherever she is — her Boston apartment, her Dallas house or on the road — Martina feels quite at home in the United States.

If Mark Twain doesn't mind, we'll just call her a Czechoslovakian Yankee in King Larry's court. (Larry King is a founding father of WTT.)

"Sometimes I'm just amazed how well she fits in," says Marcia Young, the team's publicist. "Coach (Roy) Emerson has nicknamed her the 'Professor of English' because she's always doing crossword puzzles."

"One day we were naming the capitals of the states, and she did better than I did."

Miss Navratilova, 20, defected from her native Czechoslovakia during the 1975 U.S. Open. She says she hopes to become an American citizen by the end of the month, by passing the normal five-year waiting period.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., submitted a bill last week asking for accelerated citizenship for Miss Navratilova, who hopes to play for the U.S. team in the Federation and Wightman Cups.

"I hope it (citizenship) happens soon," Miss Navratilova said by phone from Boston. "The Federation Cup is the week before Wimbledon (June 13-18). I'd be very proud to be on the same team as Chris (Evert), Rosie (Casals) and Billie Jean (King)."

"If we win, I would be the first person to win the Federation Cup for two different countries," said Martina, who led Czechoslovakia to victory in 1975.

Thoughts of her homeland and her family do get her down every once in a while, she admits. Martina left behind her father, mother and 14-year-old sister.

"Always deep down, I'll be a Czech," she said. "I miss my family very much. I haven't seen them since 1975. I call home whenever I can. But we can't always talk too freely. Whenever we start to talk about something hairy, a lot of static interferes with the line."

Martina, the No. 2-ranked player in the world, speaks with a slight accent but has no trouble understanding what people say.

Salt Walther Out, Bill Puterbaugh In

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bill Puterbaugh is back in Sunday's Indianapolis 500-mile race after Salt Walther turned down a chance to drive the car his father purchased after Puterbaugh qualified it.

Walther, of Dayton, Ohio was bumped from the field because his car was too slow and was unable to qualify a backup auto.

"I had nothing to do with the whole thing," Walther said Tuesday night. I appreciate the thoughtfulness of my father and brother to purchase the Elkins car for me, but I thought about it all night and if I took the ride away from Bill, I would lose respect for myself.

"I figured the only fair thing to do was to turn the car over to Bill and help him in any way I can to make our car successful in the 500."

Walther's father, George, and brother, Jeff, bought the Eagle Monday that Puterbaugh qualified Sunday in 28th place. They purchased it from Lee Elkins, ailing Kalamazoo, Mich., sportsman who said he was no longer physically capable of "running the team right."

George and Jeff Walther then announced Salt would replace Puterbaugh.

Puterbaugh, who had considered legal action before Salt stepped down, said, "It's my understanding that I'm going to start the race and finish the race in the car. I would accept the ride under no other circumstances."

Dick King, president of the U.S. Auto Club, which sanctions the 500-mile race, said he was pleased and relieved the situation had been resolved. And Chief Steward Tom Binford gave his immediate approval to Salt's decision.

Meanwhile, in Houston, Tex., Roger McCluskey, who qualified in ninth position for Sunday's race, predicted USAC will take steps to prevent a driver buying his way into the field.

"I think you'll see steps will be taken to see that kind of thing doesn't happen again. If someone wants to buy a car, that's fine. But there ought to be some kind of stipulation that the driver who qualified the car gets to stay with it."

"You'd have to be careful with any ruling, though. You wouldn't want to punish the car owner if, say, the driver got sick."

Detroit Vs Stuttgart Shootout Set At Mid-Ohio

LEXINGTON — The big Detroit vs. Stuttgart shootout comes to the Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course June 4-5 for the $34,500 GT race. Lining up on opposite sides of the pits are a GT series record six Chevrolet Monzas against nine new turbocharged Porsche 934's.

Porsche has the specifications advantage with almost 600 horsepower coming from its six-cylinder engine, and only 2464 pounds of car to push around Mid-Ohio's twisting 2.4 miles, while the Monzas have 565 horses at best and 2541 pounds. In seven GT races at Mid-Ohio since 1972, the score is Porsche 6, Monza 1.

Defending GT series champion Al Holbert leads the Monza brigade with a new car currently undefeated in two starts. He will be joined at Mid-Ohio by Columbus, Ohio's Jim Trueman, whose Red Roof Inns Monza holds the current racing longevity record for the brand, plus Warren Ago, Tom Frank, Chris Cord and Brad Friselle.

Driving the Porsche 934's are George Follmer, Hurley Haywood, Roy Woods, Jim Busby, Danny Ongais, Ted Field, George Dyer, Gary Belcher and Dick Barbour. Dyer leads the GT series points, driving both his turbo and his older Carrera, while former drag racer Ongais has scored the first and only turbo win.

Mid-Ohio's race caps a busy period for Ongais who is striving for Indy 500 Rookie of the Year honors on Sunday, then skipping the next day's GT race to rest up for Mid-Ohio, one of the most important races on the 15-event season schedule, because the top 10 finishers on June 5 will be given the top 10 starting spots on Aug. 28 for the three-hour endurance.

In five GT races held this year, 23 starts have been made by the 934 drivers, resulting in 15 race finishes, 13 of them in the top 10, and the single win, for a 65 per cent finishing rate. On the other hand, Monzas have finished only 57 per cent of their starts, eight of 14, but all eight were in the top 10, led by Holbert's two wins.

The fact that Porsche holds a six to 1 advantage at Mid-Ohio is irrelevant because the new 934 has never before raced here, and the Monzas were without their now-allowable aerodynamic rear wings.

Dixon Wins 1st Feature At Atomic

While Larry Dixon was lying in the hospital after hitting the wall while trying to qualify for the Indy 500, his brother was taking the honors at Atomic Speedway, Saturday night.

Tommy Dixon, Marietta, picked up his first sprint feature win of several years by besting a field of 16 cars. He had been out of the racing game for a few years until he returned this season. Gary Griffith was close behind Dixon the entire race, but never managed to pass. Griffith, of Sandusky, had to settle for second place, closely followed by Bobby Oney, Columbus.

Hometown driver Charlie Seymour leaped to an early lead in the late model main bout and held it through 15 laps, when trouble came via engine problems. Skip Mount then took the lead briefly, to be swamped by Delmas Conley, Wheelersburg. Mount, of Ironton, last week's feature winner, finished second, and John Osman, West Union, came in third.

Through a cloud of dust that sometimes obscured parts of the track, the field of ten cars in the hobby stock feature was reduced by half at the end of the race. The checkered flag was finally taken by Davy Williams, for his second feature win of the season, followed by Jim Vulgamore and Jerry Porter.

Sprint fast qualifying time was taken by Charlie Swartz with 14.45 (whose car then blew a head gasket), and Conley had 16.71 in late models.

Regular racing will be featured this Saturday night at atomic, with the Memorial Day Championship being run Monday, May 30. Time trials begin at 6:30 and racing at 8:00.

Seek Path To Glory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It was not Jack Ramsay's favorite picture, certainly no "Gone With the Wind."

The coach of the Portland Trail Blazers had just gone over the game films of Sunday's 107-101 loss to Philadelphia in the opener of the National Basketball Association championship playoffs, and his review was something less than a rave.

"It's hard to win a game where you make 34 turnovers — our average is about 17," said Ramsay. "We gave them fast break opportunities. We didn't run our offense effectively. We didn't pass the ball crisply. We didn't come to meet the ball with authority. We didn't have steals from our guards in the backcourt."

On and on, Ramsay ticked off the things the Blazers did wrong before finally stumbling onto a silver lining, of sorts.

"The fact that we can play as ineffectively as we did and still be in the game at the end should show something," he suggested.

If Mark Twain doesn't mind, we'll just call her a Czechoslovakian Yankee in King Larry's court. (Larry King is a founding father of WTT.)

"Sometimes I'm just amazed how well she fits in," says Marcia Young, the team's publicist. "Coach (Roy) Emerson has nicknamed her the 'Professor of English' because she's always doing crossword puzzles."

"One day we were naming the capitals of the states, and she did better than I did."

Miss Navratilova, 20, defected from her native Czechoslovakia during the 1975 U.S. Open. She says she hopes to become an American citizen by the end of the month, by passing the normal five-year waiting period.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., submitted a bill last week asking for accelerated citizenship for Miss Navratilova, who hopes to play for the U.S. team in the Federation and Wightman Cups.

"I hope it (citizenship) happens soon," Miss Navratilova said by phone from Boston. "The Federation Cup is the week before Wimbledon (June 13-18). I'd be very proud to be on the same team as Chris (Evert), Rosie (Casals) and Billie Jean (King)."

"If we win, I would be the first person to win the Federation Cup for two different countries," said Martina, who led Czechoslovakia to victory in 1975.

Thoughts of her homeland and her family do get her down every once in a while, she admits. Martina left behind her father, mother and 14-year-old sister.

"Always deep down, I'll be a Czech," she said. "I miss my family very much. I haven't seen them since 1975. I call home whenever I can. But we can't always talk too freely. Whenever we start to talk about something hairy, a lot of static interferes with the line."

Martina, the No. 2-ranked player in the world, speaks with a slight accent but has no trouble understanding what people say.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Avoid worry over "what might have been" or "what things SHOULD be." Consider the overall picture and you'll find that you have no reason for anxiety.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): An excellent day for all creative activity. Superiors may take an unusual interest in your ideas. In fact, you should find welcome cooperation from all.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A mixed kind of day in terms of work. Your ideas are good, but you can meet with obstacles. There may be more to do than you expected. Take all in stride.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Real problems are likely to be confused with imaginary ones: Look thoroughly over your schedule and weed out nonessentials. To clear your vision, you first must clear your path.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): It's mostly up to you whether you will gain ground, make ends meet or just drift. Some usual suggestions or directives will be absent. Be ready to "muddle through."

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You can accomplish a great deal - unless you are restricted by rigid habit or your innate over-meticulousness. Emphasize flexibility.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You will require more than ordinary patience now; will also have to be extremely careful in making decisions. Turn thumbs down on dubious schemes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Some opposition likely. Listen quietly to all, analyze, interpret carefully and, thus fortified, you can plan effective strategy for overcoming it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Examine your inner feelings to determine your true sentiments and sense of values. Otherwise, you may be misled by your emotions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't blow up trifles beyond all proportion, and DO be careful not to misjudge others. You could get the wrong angle on their activities through your own misinterpretation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Mixed planetary influences should put you on your toes now. There's a special need for adaptability and efficiency - also a sense of humor!

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't crowd yourself in the early hours, so that you become overly fatigued. Some interesting situations arising after noon will demand your complete alertness, good judgment.

YOU BORN TODAY, governed by Mercury, have a brilliance of mind that expresses itself best in words. In Gemini have been born some of our greatest writers, speakers, journalists, publishers and linguists. You may also be attracted to the stage or the lecture platform; could succeed in any field where you find an outlet for your love of beautiful things, your cultural bent or in which you can satisfy your never-ending quest for knowledge. Your wit is rapier-like and you would make an outstanding trial lawyer. Travel also appeals to you and you could succeed in any field which takes you to faraway places.

from his 29 hours of taped talks with Nixon.

That show, Koch says, will be offered stations as a separate deal, not as an addition to the original four-program package.

Minoff was asked if stations which got the original packages have complained that Frost, to turn an extra profit, saved for an extra show Nixon's replies on why he didn't destroy the Watergate tapes.

He promptly denied that was Frost's intent and added: "Nobody's talked to me about that at all."

Early American Portrait

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A portrait of Mrs. Oliver Wolcott painted by American artist Ralph Earl (1751-1801) has been purchased by the Virginia Museum. Earl is America's earliest historical painter, known as a portraitist and for his battle scenes of Lexington and Concord. Mrs. Wolcott was the wife of a signer of the Declaration of Independence who was later governor of Connecticut.

New Altman Film

NEW YORK (AP) — Nina Van Pallandt, Dina Merrill and Peggy Ann Garner will star in Robert Altman's new 20th Century-Fox film, "A Wedding," which goes into production mid-June. This is producer-director Altman's 12th film in eight years.

Altman remains best known for his smash hit "M-A-S-H." His most recent films include "The Late Shoe," "Welcome to L.A." and "3 Women."

New Altman Film

NEW YORK (AP) — Nina Van Pallandt, Dina Merrill and Peggy Ann Garner will star in Robert Altman's new 20th Century-Fox film, "A Wedding," which goes into production mid-June. This is producer-director Altman's 12th film in eight years.

Altman remains best known for his smash hit "M-A-S-H." His most recent films include "The Late Show," "Welcome to L.A." and "3 Women."

CLOSED BY STRIKE — Work to hook-up the Ted Lewis Park lift station with the new Waste Water Treatment Plant has been halted by a week-old strike of laborers. Although the strike was called midnight last Tuesday, labor leaders permitted several workers to complete construction of a manhole, which would have been a safety hazard if left unattended.

Teays Valley Board Hires And Accepts Resignations

At the Teays Valley Board of Education Meeting Monday evening, three first-year teachers were employed. The board also accepted the resignations of three teachers presently in the district.

Those resigning from their positions are Larry Kirk as junior and senior high industrial arts teacher, Robert Welker as junior high English teacher and Ray Noecker as high school vocational agricultural teacher. Resignations are effective at the end of the contract year.

Those teachers hired by the board are Miss Cynthia Palm, Miss Patricia Ankrom and Miss Teresa Ankrom. All three will work in the elementary schools.

The board granted one year leave of absence to Mrs. Jacquie Dickensheets and Mrs. Rebecca Wolf.

The teaching contract of Mrs. Judith Cromley from her leave of absence status was approved by the board. She will teach first grade. Rebecca Fowler was employed as full time teacher from her present half time status at the kindergarten level. She will replace Rebecca Wolf who will be going on a leave of absence.

Bob Thompson and Jeffery Helser were employed as summer help, mainly as painters. Also Miss Sue Kull, present high school secretary, was employed as secretary during the summer at an equivalent rate of pay. A resolution to employ summer supervisor neighborhood youth corp was approved by the board. The students are furnished by federal funds through the PICCA office.

The board established an occupation work experience program as a vocational unit in the high school. Richard Groff was hired for the position and the service increment was extended by one ninth as required by state guidelines. The program is funded by the state and is very similar to distributive education classes. Students train for part of the day, then are placed on job assignments.

Personal Service Insurance Company, by the Edwin W. Irwin Agency, was approved as the agent for next year's school accident insurance. Also, an insurance notice was discussed in regards to procedure.

A resolution approved the adoption of text book materials for junior high and high school health and music materials. The materials were previously adopted by Pickaway County board representatives from each of the three county school systems.

An amendment of board policy concerning salary schedules was adopted by the board for both certified and non certified personnel. The base beginning teaching salary was raised from $82 to $85 hundred with equivalent raises for every level above that. The non certified personnel raises are by an equivalent percentage.

Other board policy changes improved benefit areas of sick leave and insurance. During the policy study session, about 50 other minor changes were made concerning board policy.

A list of graduating seniors presented to the board by Ron Claibourne, high school principal, was approved subject to the completion of final conditions as certified by the principal.

Eight graders were approved for receipt of certificates of completion and promotion to the high school was also approved as submitted by the Junior High School Principal Robert Jenkins.

The board authorized Orlan Cooper to file for DPPF funding and make application for title one funds. Both are for the district's 1977-78 school year.

Mrs. Beth Dague was granted permission of professional leave for an home economics convention in Columbus Aug. 8, 9, and 10.

Remuneration was granted by the clerk treasurer for course work completed by two teachers. Application to begin completion of work was approved for another teacher.

After reports from principals, the board determined that it will hold a special meeting 8 p.m. Tuesday at the central office. School bus mechanics will be interviewed and further employments will be discussed.

The regular July meeting date was changed from the fourth Monday to July 18. Budget hearings will be discussed. It must be approved by the

Ouster Of Podgorny Analyzed

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nikolai V. Podgorny's ouster from the Communist party's ruling Politburo is the first major shakeup in Kremlin leadership since Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was ousted 13 years ago.

But its effect on the Soviet people and government policy appears to be slight.

"He doesn't appear to have had a major impact on policy in the past, and I don't see that his absence will have a major impact," a Western diplomatic observer said.

"No one knows why he was dropped," another observer said.

Concorde Ban Extended

NEW YORK (AP) — A ban on the use of John F. Kennedy International Airport by the Anglo-French Concorde supersonic jet has been extended until June 1 by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

At 2 p.m. next Wednesday, the appeals court will hold a formal hearing on whether the jet should be allowed to land.

The three-judge panel said Tuesday, however, that if the case is not argued next Wednesday, the ban will be lifted.

Lawyers for the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, operators of the airport, and attorneys for Air France and British Airways said they would be ready and would submit briefs prior to next week's hearing.

The appeal involves a U.S. District Court ruling on May 11 that the Port Authority could not bar Concorde flights. But District Judge Milton Pollack later issued a temporary stay of the order, which would have expired at 4 p.m. Tuesday without the appeals court's ruling.

The needle-nosed airplane, capable of travelling at twice the speed of sound, has just completed one year of service between Dulles Airport outside Washington, D.C., and Paris.

health, but the lack of any mention of these suggested that the reason was more serious.

The people of Moscow appeared to take Tuesday's announcement in stride and a number of Muscovites had not even heard about the change four hours after the brief announcement was broadcast. It was not the topic of political discussion in gatherings at Red Square or Lenin's tomb.

One woman selling candy in a department store said, "Well, he's not a young man, is he?"

The balding, portly Podgorny, at 74, is the oldest of the three men who ousted Khrushchev in 1964. Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, the country's real leader, is 70 and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is 73.

Since 1964 the top leadership has remained stable, with a gradual shifting of power to Brezhnev. Some observers suggested Brezhnev would take over the presidency to further consolidate his position.

He could take over the post directly or through some provision in the new Soviet constitution — due to be published during the next few days — that would restructure the entire Soviet leadership system.

Podgorny, who rose from sugar plant manager to become president in 1965, remained one of the Soviet Union's top leaders until it was announced that he had been "freed" from his duties on the 15-member Communist party Politburo, the power center of the Soviet Union.

Howland Named To State Board

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Attorney William L. Howland of Portsmouth has been appointed to the Legal Services Corporation Advisory Council, Gov. James A. Rhodes said Tuesday.

Howland succeeds Simon J. Lazarus Jr., whose term expired. Howland has practiced since 1940 and is a former member of the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association. He is a member of the Prison Grievance Committee for Ohio.

Officially, he retained the largely ceremonial post of president, but without Politburo membership he was not likely to hold onto it.

Both Kosygin and Brezhnev have been more active policy makers than Podgorny. Brezhnev has control of foreign policy and is undisputed national leader while Kosygin formulates economic policy.

Although Podgorny has been well-traveled and highly visible in his ceremonial role as head of state, analysts had not given him serious attention as a policymaker and he had not been the subject of political fortuitousness as had other leaders.

In London, the independent Financial Times observed that "politically, the most significant point is that the triumvirate ... which took over from Khrushchev in 1964 has finally cracked after 17 years in power."

Stan Kenton Remains Ill

READING, Pa. (AP) — Bandleader Stan Kenton was reported in serious condition after undergoing surgery at Reading Hospital to relieve pressure caused by a blood clot in his brain, a hospital spokesman said.

Kenton, 65, has been on the serious list since he fractured his skull in a fall Sunday night. Police said he apparently suffered some type of seizure before the fall.

He remained on the serious list Tuesday night following a post-operative examination, but a hospital spokesman said his condition was much improved.

Doctors originally thought Kenton had suffered a stroke, but tests prior to the operation revealed a fracture at the back of the skull, Jerry Wills, a hospital spokesman, said Tuesday.

Kenton and members of his band were staying at the hotel in preparation for an engagement here. The band departed Tuesday for an engagement in Toronto.
